More Buses for Castro Hinted by British Firm

LONDON (UPI)—A leading British motor firm may be negotiating a new multi-million-dollar deal for delivery of buses to Castro's Cuba, a company spokesman indicated Thursday.

The hint came as government sources said Britain is determined to continue its trade-with-Cuba policy despite renewed American pressure against it.

A spokesman for the Leyland Motor Corp. indicated a new deal may be in the works following a Havana broadcast reporting Cuba shortly would buy another 500 buses in Britain.

The Leyland company signed a $10,000,000 contract with Cuba in January to provide 450 buses. In addition, Cuba acquired an option for another 1,000 buses.

A company spokesman said

Thursday that so far the firm has received no further order, but he said company representatives are in Havana.

We'll Trade With Cuba — Pearson

OTTAWA (UPI)—Prime Minister Pearson said yesterday that Canada intends to continue trading with Cuba despite the U.S. economic blockade of the island.

Opposition leader John Diefenbaker asked Mr. Pearson in the Commons if President Johnson had asked Canada to assist in the blockade.

Mr. Pearson said he had not and that "trade with Communist countries in non-strategic materials will not be interfered with."

The prime minister added: "Our policy on this matter is well known to the United States government. As recently as last week we had occasion to discuss it with them again."

The joint Canada-U.S. ministerial committee on trade and economic policies met in Ottawa last week and Mr. Pearson said the subject of trade with Cuba was touched upon but no representations were made.

Second Man Returned

KRAFT IN CUSTODY

By BOB PETHICK

A third man sought in connection with the $7,300 armed robbery of the Bank of Montreal in Saanich April 24 was picked up in Atlantic City, New Jersey, last night.

Clarence William Kraft, a salesman from Victoria, was arrested without incident on a city street by members of the Atlantic City police force and the United States immigration department of Newark, N. J.

SECOND MAN

Even as the arrest was being made, a second man, Ronald Joseph Dagenais — who was picked up by Detroit city police and the U.S. immigration Tuesday in co-operation with Windsor city police — was booked at Saanich police station after a cross-country flight.

Dagenais, handcuffed to Det. George Walton who escorted him back from Windsor, Ont., was met at Patricia Bay Airport by Det. Sgt. Robin Stewart and Det. Charles Truett.

'Leukemia' Bandit Gets $3,401

VANCOUVER (CP)—A bandit escaped with $3,401 from a suburban restaurant early Thursday after telling the manager he has leukemia.

Manager Barry Hodgson, 56, said the bandit walked into his office, pointed a sawed-off rifle at him and ordered him to fill a duffie bag with money from the safe.

"Are you kidding?" asked Hodgson.

"I have leukemia and I don't care," the gunman replied, kicking Hodgson in the back.

"I gave him everything in the safe," said Hodgson.

Laing Demands

Of B.C.:

Admit You Can't Cope

OTTAWA (CP)—Northern Affairs Minister Laing said Thursday night that Premier Bennett still has not told the federal government whether it is beyond the province's capacity to compensate tidal wave victims on Vancouver Island.

He said in an interview that no decision will be made on Mr. Bennett's request for $750,000 in federal aid towards compensating victims of the floods which struck the Alberni area March 28, until the matter had been put to cabinet. (See also Page 21.)

He said he will be discussing the request with his colleagues during the next few days but that the next cabinet meeting is not scheduled until Tuesday. The minister said the criteria had to be fixed, otherwise the federal government would find itself being called in to assist whenever losses were not covered by insurance.

Cancer Drug Your Risk Doctor Told

OTTAWA (UPI)—The federal health department has told the Montreal father of a boy dying of cancer that if his physician uses the controversial drug Anablast on the boy the doctor does so at his own risk.

However, the department made it clear to the developer of the drug, Paris biologist Gaston Naessens, that this was an isolated case and he could not promote or distribute the drug without complying with federal regulations.

SON DYING

Rene Guynemer, whose three-year-old son, Rene, Jr., is dying of leukemia, and Naessens, appeared before Deputy National Health and Welfare Minister Dr. G. D. W. Cameron Wednesday.

Cameron, flanked by legal experts and advisers, told the father that the federal government would not stand in the way of the treatment of the boy with the drug, which Naessens has claimed will cure leukemia.

The father was told that if he could find a doctor willing to take the risk of using the drug the federal government could neither give nor deny permission.

Ball

Wayward Allies Rapped by U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Undersecretary of State George Ball said Thursday that the effectiveness of the NATO alliance is jeopardized by "international wishful thinking" and failure of its members to agree on such critical issues as Cuban trade.

In a speech at the Georgetown University Centre for Strategic Studies, Ball said effective solution of the problems facing NATO "will not be achieved merely by tinkering with the NATO structure" but by greater co-operation among members and wider acceptance of responsibility.

He recalled that at that time he was in New York leading the Canadian delegation to the United Nations as Canada's external affairs minister. There were hasty preparations being made in New York and frequent messages back-and-forth to Ottawa to learn what troops Canada would contribute to the force.

"I'll never forget the night, around midnight, when Ottawa told me they were prepared to send the Queen's Own Rifles. I just wondered how that name would appeal to the Egyptians who had been busy trying to get the Queen's forces out of Egypt."

For Want of a Regiment ...

Shortlived Glory of the 1st EKAIR

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson told a university lecture audience Thursday night of one of his embarrassing moments during preparation of the United Nations emergency force for the Middle East in 1956.

He recalled that at that time he was in New York leading the Canadian delegation to the United Nations as Canada's external affairs minister. There were hasty preparations being made in New York and frequent messages back-and-forth to Ottawa to learn what troops Canada would contribute to the force.

"I'll never forget the night, around midnight, when Ottawa told me they were prepared to send the Queen's Own Rifles. I just wondered how that name would appeal to the Egyptians who had been busy trying to get the Queen's forces out of Egypt."

"I asked if there wasn't some other regiment that could go, and I was told the Black Watch was in a similar state of readiness. I must say I couldn't see any real improvement in the name."

"So I asked whether we didn't have something like the 1st East Kootenay Anti-Imperialist Regiment. I was trying to be funny. But Ottawa didn't think so. They told me if I was trying to change the name of some of Canada's most historic old regiments, I could call the whole thing off."

International Protest

CP from AP-Reuters

MOSCOW—The United States and Britain have protested jointly to the Soviet foreign and defence ministries against the apparent "drugging" of four military attaches in the Black Sea port of Odessa last March.

The U.S. embassy here has protested that three U.S. military attaches apparently were drugged while in Odessa, the U.S. state department disclosed in Washington Thursday.

NAVAL ATTACHE

In London, the foreign office said a British assistant naval attaché was with the Americans on the trip and also was drugged. The Briton was identified as Lt.-Cmdr. H. Harvey-Samuel.

The drugging of the U.S. marine, naval and air attaches—apparently during a hotel dinner in the course of a March 24-25 visit to the Black Sea port—was described as mild. And so was the U.S. reaction.

NO COMPLAINT

State department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the U.S. embassy did not lodge its complaint with the Soviet foreign office until May 2, more than a month after the attaches returned to Moscow.

State department officials said time was needed to complete medical tests which showed the three had received enough barbiturates to cause drowsiness. However, the U.S. investigation was not absolutely conclusive and the men were not harmed, it was stated.

U.S. ACCOUNT

U.S. officials gave this account:

Marine Lt.-Col. J. M. Landrigan, air force Lt.-Col. W. L. van Meter and naval Lt.-Cmdr. Summer Shapiro, assistant attaché, had dinner at their hotel in Odessa and spent the night in their hotel rooms. They first noticed a mild impact from what was believed to have been drugs when they awoke the next morning.

Aspirin Good As Cortisone For Arthritis

OTTAWA (CP) — Senator F. A. McGrand, a physician, said Thursday that "aspirin is as effective as cortisone" for the treatment of arthritis.

The former New Brunswick health minister made the comment during a brief discussion on drug costs at the special Senate committee studying problems of the aged.

EXPENSIVE DRUGS

Senator McGrand asked Dr. R. F. Malo, medical director of St. Vincent's Hospital in Ottawa, whether the increasing use of expensive drugs in the treatment of aged persons is justified.

Could not less expensive drugs be used? he asked. "Aspirin is as effective as cortisone for arthritis."

Dr. Malo said in some cases aspirin is the most effective treatment. However, in other cases cortisone was required.

Canada Backs U.S. Proposal To Keep Problems Within UN

GENEVA (CP) — Canada is backing United Nations machinery instead of creating a new world trade organization.

The proposal came at the 122-country UN conference on trade and development where Western industrialized nations are heavily outnumbered by Asian, African and other "have-not" countries who with Soviet support are seeking a new agency to negotiate access and terms of trade.

UPPER LIMIT

Both Canadian and U.S. sources indicated the American proposal, with Britain, Japan, The Netherlands and Sweden also co-sponsors, is the upper limit of compromise by the developed countries. It likely will also get the support of the European Common Market.

American sources pointed out that the North Atlantic community plus Japan would pay 80 per cent of the cost of any new institution and would account for between 75 and 80 per cent of world trade.

WOULD BE FUTILE

The Philippine delegation already has said it would be futile for the conference to press for a new trade organization if it is not acceptable to the major trading blocs. Canadian observers here believe the other developing countries feel the same way.

U.S. delegate Richard Gardner told the conference committee.

Gymnasts Thrill 4,000

An audience of nearly 4,000 thrilled to the skill and precision of 24 Danish gymnasts in Memorial Arena last night.

The Danish gym team, 12 men and 12 girls, are in Victoria as part of a North American tour.

In last night's show their beautifully co-ordinated gymnastics and team work proved their fine examples of their country's athletic education program.

The program took the team through folk dances, hoop and ball exercises, rhythmic and fundamental exercises, gymnastics to jazz, vaulting, tumbling and gymnastics with partners.

The show went off without a hitch and arena crews found themselves moving the stage curtains back 20 feet to provide seats for rush ticket holders.

The show was sponsored by the Victoria branch of the Canadian Association of Physical and Health Education and Recreation.

The Danes continue their tour of the continent, ending at New York World's Fair in July before returning home.

Drastic Changes Unlikely For Militia in Canada

Canada's militia is not likely to be changed drastically in the near future and will probably continue its national survival role, Lt.-Col. W. H. V. Matthews said last night.

The Cowichan-born double-winner of the Military Cross was in town last night for the annual inspection of headquarters 25 Militia Group and 40 Technical Squadron, RCME, at the Bay Street armory.

WELL THOUGHT OUT

"There will not be any change in a hurry," he said. "Any changes will be well and carefully thought out."

He said a commission which is currently studying the militia role in Canada would report to Defence Minister Hellyer in a month or so. He foresees no immediate cutbacks and recruiting will remain normal.

Your Good Health

It's the Same Old Story If You're Fat, Eat Less

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: Has it been established whether eggs should not be eaten by a person on a low-cholesterol diet? —Mrs. S. T.

This cholesterol business is important, but it has to be considered in reasonable fashion.

Let me put it this way. In driving a car, we know that in many cases "speed kills." Just going slow doesn't necessarily mean safety. Many accidents are caused by the "safe" driver who self-righteously dawdles along at 25 miles an hour on an expressway designed for 60 miles an hour. Poking along is dangerous, too.

USEFUL, NECESSARY

Well, that's how it is with cholesterol. Everybody has cholesterol in the blood. It is a useful, necessary material. (It is a fatty one.)

If you didn't have enough you'd be in sad shape.

But if you eat too much, that may be bad, too.

That's one part of the story. Now here's another. You don't get all your cholesterol from cholesterol in your food.

Your body manufactures cholesterol from other foods you eat. Rabbits, for example, eat vegetables, which are low in cholesterol. Yet their bodies take the grass, lettuce, carrots and so on, and create cholesterol.

SMALL PROPORTION

So now, how about eggs? They are high in cholesterol. Or, at any rate, the yolks are. Yet only a small proportion of this cholesterol is absorbed by the body.

A person need not fret about eating any reasonable quantity of eggs.

What you SHOULD worry about is your complete diet. If you are gaining weight, or if you are overweight and not losing, you ought to be concerned about it—especially if you have a high blood cholesterol.

Spaghetti, or candy, or soft drinks, or peanut butter sandwiches or many other things may not contain much cholesterol, but if you eat more of any kind of food than you need, the result will be high fat content in your system. Your body will convert some of this to cholesterol.

In short, I think it would be a good idea if people forgot all about cholesterol—if, that is, everybody would pay honest attention to total weight.

A "low-cholesterol diet" is essentially a diet low in animal fat, and low in total calories. Trying to find "low cholesterol foods" doesn't do you a bit of good if you eat too much of them.

Eat eggs, drink milk, eat butter, and don't worry about cholesterol, provided you aren't overweight.

But if you ARE overweight, don't blame it on eggs or any other kind of food. Blame it on eating too much.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it safe to eat the skin of an apple? Or to cook apples with the peeling on? Most of them probably were sprayed.—H.D.

Cooked or not it is safe to eat the skin except for special cases, such as perhaps a person with an irritable colon who finds the roughness bothersome. As for the sprays, fruit and vegetables should always be washed before using, but that is all the precaution that is necessary.

Pearson Pushes Plan For Standby Force

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister Pearson said last night the Canadian government is considering holding confidential discussions with some United Nations member countries aimed eventually at setting up a collective standby force for peace.

The prime minister said, as a first stage, discussions would be confined to nations which have already taken steps to establish standby units for UN service, to be followed later by a more formal approach to other governments concerned.

Mr. Pearson, delivering a Dag Hammarskjöld memorial lecture at Ottawa's Carleton University, was expanding on his recent proposal for a stand-by force drawn from several nations but set up outside the UN's constitutional framework.

He said if the UN is unable to agree on permanent arrangements for a stand-by force "members who believe that stand-by arrangements should be made could discharge their own responsibility, individually and collec-

Special Treaty

Exception Planned For U.S. Fishermen

OTTAWA (UPI) — United States fishermen will be allowed to continue fishing inside Canada's new 12-mile fishing limit under special regulations protecting fisheries resources, External Affairs Minister Paul Martin said yesterday.

Martin told the Senate Banking and Commercial Committee the two countries have yet to fully agree on these regulations but expressed optimism "we will reach a satisfactory common accord."

The conservation regulations will apply to the U.S. and France—the only two countries Canada says have treaty rights in the areas affected.

The new timetable was disclosed Thursday by External

Affairs Minister Martin as the Senate commerce committee opened hearings on a controversial bill authorizing the cabinet to set a 12-mile limit by means of a straight baseline system and to proclaim a 12-mile exclusive fishing zone.

Mr. Martin said the delay was caused by "very difficult" negotiations with the United States. These talks had begun last June and would last several more months before differences could be resolved.

The external affairs minister and Fisheries Minister Hubert said the exact manner in which the key baseline will be drawn is one of the topics under discussion with the American government.

They said a brief submitted in January, 1961, to the former Conservative government by the Fisheries Council of Canada forms a basis for the discussions.

The council, which represents most commercial fishing companies and packers in Canada, called for a baseline system that would close most bays along the coast to foreign fishermen.

12-Mile Limit Plan Slows

By RONALD LEBEL

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has dropped its plan to set a 12-mile limit on territorial and fishing limits in mid-May and now aims to implement the changes by stages later this year and in 1965.

The new timetable was disclosed Thursday by External

Affairs Minister Martin as the Senate commerce committee opened hearings on a controversial bill authorizing the cabinet to set a 12-mile limit by means of a straight baseline system and to proclaim a 12-mile exclusive fishing zone.

Mr. Martin said the delay was caused by "very difficult" negotiations with the United States. These talks had begun last June and would last several more months before differences could be resolved.

The external affairs minister and Fisheries Minister Hubert said the exact manner in which the key baseline will be drawn is one of the topics under discussion with the American government.

They said a brief submitted in January, 1961, to the former Conservative government by the Fisheries Council of Canada forms a basis for the discussions.

The council, which represents most commercial fishing companies and packers in Canada, called for a baseline system that would close most bays along the coast to foreign fishermen.

The three-mile territorial water limit and 12-mile fishing limit would be measured from a baseline drawn from headland to headland. The council specifically asked that the following

West Coast bodies of water be declared part of Canadian territorial waters: Queen Charlotte Sound, Hecate Strait, and Dixon Entrance.

Winds Double Blaze In Algonquin Park

Bombers Save Hamlet In Ravaged Maritimes

HALIFAX, N.S. (UPI)—Foresty officials Thursday termed the province's forest fire situation "explosive," as water bombing aircraft snuffed out a fresh blaze that threatened homes in the tiny Conrod settlement of blackened Halifax County.

The lands and forests department dispatched a ground force to patrol the parched woods in that area and diverted two "water bombers" to other fires that flared with new force in the heat and winds of early afternoon.

Fifteen new blazes were held in check by foresters and volunteer fighters yesterday. Most of the department's effort was directed at the 46 fires left over from Wednesday, the worst single outbreak in the worst rash of fires in the province's history.

Chief Provincial Forester R. H. Burgess described the woodlands as "explosive" after two weeks of warm wind and sun. "The highest classification we have for a situation like this is 'extreme,' but I think 'explosive' would give a better picture."

Makarios Quiets Greeks

Hot-Heads to Blame

TIMI, Cyprus (AP) — President Archbishop Makarios said last night the Greeks in this case, although there are hot heads on both sides.

The unusual dialogue occurred in a bullet-pocked, white-walled Turkish-Cypriot coffee house in this mixed village of 350 Greek and 250 Turkish-Cypriots.

The coffee shop owner shook hands with Makarios, as did two other Turkish-Cypriots, Ali Mettesh, a village councillor and Ramadan Attas, a constable.

A crowd gathered in front of Makarios. He smiled, picked up a tiny cup of Turkish coffee, and asked: "Well, well, do you still fight among yourselves?"

Mettesh spoke up: "It's all the Greeks' fault. The Greeks keep attacking us, preventing us from going out to our fields to work, terrorizing us and destroying our property."

An elderly Greek tried to protest, but Makarios cut him off. He invited Greeks who felt molested by Turks outside the village to notify the government, which he said would punish them.

"But you must make the Turkish in your village feel safe," he advised.

Kyrenia Pass Shot-Swept

NICOSIA (UPI) — Heavy firing echoed Thursday through the strategic Kyrenia Pass in northern Cyprus, where fresh Greek Cypriot troops took over positions dominating St. Hilarion Castle.

The shooting appeared designed to cover the changeover of troops. No casualties were reported.

Public Marinas

ON THIS COAST it will be a subject of exceptional interest that in the House of Commons, Public Works Minister J. P. Deschatelets has indicated a desire on the part of the federal government to build marinas in all parts of the country, although he did so in not very precise terms.

Submitting his estimates to the House and talking of departmental responsibilities, Mr. Deschatelets touched on the tourist industry, "the second most important in Canada," and cited the example of the United States where "there has been in the last years an explosion in the activities consisting in the creation and construction of marinas and also in the dragging of various rivers in order to link them together. That is done jointly with the central government and the local administrations."

In his opinion, the minister said, Canada should not fail to recognize the contribution of this type of installation to the tourist industry and the economy.

Mr. Deschatelets did not make clear what kind of marinas he has in mind: whether launching ramps and simple small-boat berthing accommodation, marine parks, or complete-service facilities such as have sprung up in recent years on the West Coast in answer to the demands of a growing water-borne trade. If the last, there might be some objection to government competition with private enterprise in this new field. On the other hand, it could be a federal help with the boat basin in Victoria's Inner Harbor, for instance, and provision of public services where private accommodation is inadequate.

That, however, remains to be seen, and not immediately, the minister said policy had not yet been defined precisely. But he left no doubt of intent: "We believe that when a clear-cut policy is established . . . it would be in the interest of all areas in the country if negotiations were undertaken with the provinces to consider the possibility of entering into joint programs to get full benefit from the operation of this new source of activity."

A chance thus seems likely to present itself in due course for British Columbia to avail itself of federal aid in further developing its recreational resources. It is an opportunity that would appear at this stage to invite a warm welcome.

Empty War Chest

MR. STRACHAN says his party is so broke the NDP will have to close down its B.C. organization if it doesn't get enough money to pay its present debts. One doubts things will come to that pass, and the NDP leader himself can be counted on to frown on any such closure.

Another NDP official, however, Mr. Fanthorpe, views being broke as being a good thing. He thinks parties shouldn't hoard money but spend it and implies that an empty treasury is no deterrent.

One must concede the NDP is never likely to be over-flush with funds, although it has done remarkably well throughout the years without the financial resources other parties may have, albeit each of them never seems to claim to have more than it needs. Mr. Strachan points out that NDP funds come from party memberships, and that donations from companies don't come their way, which isn't surprising since most companies consider that NDP philosophy is detrimental to their interests.

Mr. Fanthorpe evidently believes that lack of money is a spur to party endeavor and enthusiasm, and voting results to date seem to bear him out. Even if the NDP, and former CCF, does not command a well-filled election chest this has not markedly affected its maintenance of steady support. The NDP keeps to the fairly regular plurality of votes which seems to be all that it can ever expect. And money alone is not the criterion of winning elections.

Easily Ruffled

CABINET MINISTERS are easily ruffled. Let someone appear to cast a reflection on them or their menage and they get all hot and bothered. And often without call.

The federal minister of resources, for instance, Mr. Arthur Laing, expressed to the Commons his concern last during the next few weeks flood conditions affect B.C. and said the problem was serious. Immediately Mr. Ray Williston took umbrage and accused him of "hollering wolf" and creating needless alarm. The run-off on B.C. rivers is normal, he said, and any flooding would be of small proportions.

Now the point is that if there were a flood it wouldn't be Mr. Williston's fault, nor of his government either. Nature dictates these matters without regard to the feelings and prestige of cabinet ministers, no matter where situated. And as a B.C. representative at Ottawa Mr. Laing must be presumed to have some interest in the well of his home province.

Mr. Williston could easily have said something like this: "Happily Mr. Laing's fears are groundless and he must have received misleading information." But such quiet rebuttal is foreign to politicians of rival party color.

The federal minister and the B.C. ministers don't get along, as witness the pathetic impasse over relief to the Albernis, and each takes every opportunity to berate the other and imply some denigration.

In the result public business and the interests of people generally, both federal and provincial, suffer from this over-sensitivity to slight or seeming aspersion. It is extreme partisanship that is at fault, and the public must be growing tired of it.

Hansard Tiffs

And Then . . .

MR. FAVREAU: Tomorrow we will proceed with the second reading and committee stage of the Blue Water bridge bill. After that we will take the resolution introducing the Post Office Act amendments which will be followed, if there is time left, by the resolution introducing amendments to the Exchequer Court Act. This will be followed, always if there is time left, by the resolution introducing a bill providing for the payment of certain provincial fees and taxes by crown corporations. Then—

Mr. Knowles: Then it will be Friday.

Mr. Favreau:—It will be Friday, so that all we need know is that on Friday the committee will be studying estimates of the Department of Public Works.

"See! Tell the folks it doesn't hurt."

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax . . ."

By TOM TAYLOR

COME what Tuesday and the creepy hours of night, happening the appropriate heavenly glow for the period that interposes between sunset and sunrise, we'll have a "moonlight flitting" in Victoria.

Modern sophistication has perhaps made this surreptitious mode of transfer needless and therefore unfashionable, but in the context under purview "flit" is far from the word.

Only it doesn't concern a household taking up its abode elsewhere, with no one looking—but a ship. Yet flit the latter will do—migrate, depart, pass rapidly—from ways to water.

Not, however, let me add lest this seems to cast aspersion on VMD and all their skillful craftsmen, who have no need to hide under a bushel, day or night, that the launching in question is related to the kind of flitting meant to evade the landlord.

No, indeed. It's a matter of the conjunction of tide and strike, which have coincided to prevent the normal daytime inauguration of a vessel designed to become a ship.

Vehicle is probably neither the polite nor the technical term to apply to a sea-going vessel, even if it hasn't yet become the traditional "she," albeit a ship out of water, like a duck wading on land, doesn't have the silhouette befitting a lady. She has to hide her demerits to be herself, as it were.

Just as does mislaid in proof of such verily, and male counterpart could follow her example.

But the local tide next Tuesday, indifferent to the desires of men who live by its incidence, won't oblige by being "high" enough to receive this soon-to-be ferry, nor yet for some time to come, hence the middle-of-the-night launching.

Mr. Bennett can't wait any longer. I feel sure, but nevertheless it doesn't seem altogether fitting that a maritime maiden, and a queen to boot, should be set forth on her dazzling career in the dead, dark hours. And how dreadful if the moon doesn't shine.

A lady of the dignity, importance, and pleasing image as the Queen of New Westminster will doubtless be when she takes up her preordained abode, deserves the full acclaim of sunshine and hearty daytime spirit. And normally spirits are low at 2:55 a.m. unless perhaps with the stimulus of another variety of spirit.

As of course they should be, and confined to bed at that.

Unlike the "moonlight" transfer of a household seeking to dodge the rent, however, the VMD's queen won't flit unnoticed. One may take leave to doubt that the usual concourse will embrace the scene of her baptism in quite the customary voluminous manner, albeit the reverse could operate because of novelty, but she won't take the water unhonored or unsung.

Victorians will see to that. I'm sure, and the shipwrights will have plenty of company on this quite unique occasion.

There may have been other ships launched in the wee sma' hours, I suppose, but they must be few and far between, and this will be an added distinction the Queen of New Westminster will bear all her seagoing life.

It's worth noting on a special plaque, in fact, that unlike all her sisters she began her waterborne journey in the eerie dark of night. We may never in these parts duplicate her debut in the same nocturnal fashion.

French Coast to Coast

By RICHARD JACKSON
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

PROBABLY you didn't notice it, because federal cabinet ministers are making so many speeches that they can't all be covered as carefully as perhaps they should, especially in the smaller places . . . but it's in the official government blueprints that the CBC is going bilingual, coast to coast.

It'll take a little time, and probably cost more than a little money, but that's the plan.

State Secretary Maurice Lamontagne, the cabinet minister in charge of the bilingualism and multiculturalism, and the man through whom the CBC reports to Parliament, disclosed the plan for an all-Canada French language radio service when he spoke the other night in nearby Hull, Quebec.

Speaking in French, he recalled plans for the controversial conversion this fall of the CBC's CBC radio station, CIBC, to French, went on to say that an Ottawa station would be added to the French network, then—and this is from his text—added:

"Station by station this network will be extended from coast to coast."

So far, there have been no questions, corrections or denials, perhaps because few MPs have seen the speech.

One of several MPs—and these include a handful of Liberals in revolt—against the bilingualism—who will be certain to raise a howl when he hears of it, is Ralph Cowan, the independently-minded member for York Humber.

He is leader of a nobody-knows-how-large bloc of Liberal rebels which has joined spiritual forces with those members of all four Opposition parties who contend that the government already has gone more far than enough in what they term the impossible appeasement of Quebec's ever-increasing demands.

Does it indicate his feeling about the flag?

"You're darn right it does," he says, "and they'll be my feelings to the end of my days."

More important, he believes there are "quite a number of us fellows here on this side of the House who feel the same way," and will reject any flag that doesn't include the Red Ensign.

It was only a line, one among many, in a written answer that Trade Minister Mitchell Sharp made to a question on the Commons order paper, but it told a story.

Pierre de Bellefeuille, a former reporter for the French language Ottawa daily, Le Droit, had hit the jackpot with an appointment, at a handsome $30,000 a year, as director of exhibits for that extraordinary gold mining operation that goes under the disarming name of the Montreal World's Fair.

The hired help scales down from an executive top of $40,000, plus Cadillac, for the Director General Pierre Dupuy, former Canadian ambassador to France, to 16 drawing up to a middle-ranking annual $35,000 and 60 others rating a junior graded $15,000 to $20,000.

The federal government is putting a cool $83,000,000 into

Excellent Relations

Canada and Peru

By HOWARD GREEN
Former Secretary of State for External Affairs

PROBABLY the proudest city in Latin America is Lima, the capital of Peru—and with good reason—for it was the capital of the far-flung Spanish colonies in the Western Hemisphere and as such the seat of the viceroy.

From this famous city, founded over 400 years ago, went Spanish explorers over land and sea. The west coast of Canada and of the United States owe much to these intrepid men.

Originally our own Vancouver Island was named "The Island of Quadra and Vancouver" after the Spanish and British naval officers sent to Nootka, on the western shores of the Island by their respective governments—with instructions to settle the dispute over ownership of that outpost then famous as a source of the fur of the otter seal, which was prized and expensive commodity sought after by the potentates of the Orient. This was in 1782.

The two naval captains were unable to agree on the ownership of Nootka but they became friends and gave the Island their names. Later, on the way home to England, Vancouver visited Quadra at his headquarters in Monterey, Calif. Quadra, it so happens, was a native of Lima and came from one of the leading Spanish families in the colonial empire.

Canada has always enjoyed excellent relations with Peru and there is no reason why that situation should change. In recent years there has been an excellent air service by Canadian Pacific Air Lines from Vancouver and Toronto to Lima, Santiago in Chile, and Buenos Aires in Argentina. This service has helped build up the relationship.

In addition, B.C. Packers Limited, the largest fishing company on Canada's west coast, for some years operated a large plant near Lima—and there have been various activities by other Canadians in Peru.

When I visited Lima in 1960 I had an interesting audience with President Prado in the presidential palace. He was very proud of the fact that Peru had been the first nation in Latin America to declare war on Japan and stand beside the Western Allies.

Prime Minister Beltran, owner and publisher of the leading newspaper in Peru, was enthusiastic over plans to develop the country and particularly the large tropical area lying east of the Andes Mountains and containing the main headwaters of the Amazon River.

At the time another Peruvian—Dr. Belaunde—was president of the United Nations and he happened to be in Lima. He has always been particularly friendly to Canada. Members of his family have been outstanding in the public life of Peru and a relative is now the president of the country.

Peruvian leaders are very much interested in world affairs. They have taken an active part in the work of the United Nations from the start and Peru has participated in international conferences of all kinds.

Latin American leaders have always been among the strongest supporters of international law and advocates for the peaceful settlement of disputes.

The fact that occasionally these countries have troubles within their own borders should not blind us to the great contribution they are making to world affairs.

If we had the economic problems they face we might have serious troubles of our own. Few Canadians realize that their country is generally considered to be one of the most fortunate in the world.

In Lima I did have one amusing experience. Our ambassador to Peru had arranged for me to call on the mayor at the famous old city hall in the centre of the city. It is most impressive and the welcome given by the mayor and the members of his council could not have been warmer.

Before leaving I presented him with a gift brought from Canada for this purpose. It was in a large gift box but I was unaware of the contents. To my horror there seemed to be nothing inside but paper and the situation was not improved greatly when His Worship finally reached an Eskimo carving about three inches long. It was a good replica of a duck but it certainly didn't make much impression! And what explanation was to be made? I just withdrew as gracefully as possible.

One interesting event was an interview with a young Peruvian who had been granted a scholarship by the Canada Council. This grant was widely publicized in Peru and was appreciated. Canada would be well advised to make more contacts of this kind. I believe many Latin American students would like to come to our universities.

In any event Peru is our friend. One of the leading countries of Latin America, she is anxious to work more closely with us and to have our help in the development of her resources. This is a field in which Canadian engineers and industrialists could make a contribution from which both nations would derive great benefit.

Big Brother Watches

By MARQUIS CHILDS

YOU are seated confronting an examiner with various recording devices attached to your person to show your blood pressure, respiration, skin reaction. Whether you know it or not the mirror on the wall is a two-way mirror so that your reactions may be closely observed from an adjoining room. You are about to undergo a lie-detector test.

This may be part of the screening process if you have applied for a job in private industry. Or you may be an applicant for any one of thousands of positions in 19 U.S. government agencies. Or you may be in the tails of the law and you have been told that a lie detector may establish your innocence.

Lie detection is big business, the House Government Operations Committee has shown in hearing into the widespread use of the device in government. The United States government is spending $4,800,000 on lie detection to screen applicants and to catch employees who may have violated laws and regulations.

But in industry, and especially defence industry, its use is spreading like a rash. Up to 1,500 individuals, apart from government specialists at every level, operate as lie detectors on a full-time basis. Three states now license such operators, setting minimum standards for education and training.

Around the polygraph, the technical name for a lie detector, a high-sounding jargon has grown up. The American Academy of Polygraph Examiners, the Academy for Scientific Interrogation and the National Board of Polygraph Examiners are among the organizations giving learned sanction to a rapidly developing business.

Yet members of the committee hearing leaders of the new craft are frankly skeptical as to its value. Chairman John Moss (D-Calif.) spoke of the "fantasy land" of the polygraph world. Putting it more bluntly Rep. Henry Reuss (D-Wis.) said he believed it was largely "bunk."

Psychiatrists and psychologists testifying before the Moss committee doubted that lie detectors have any scientific basis.

Long Period of Peace Sought

Russian Attitude To West Changes

By HENRY BRANDON, from Moscow

The memory of the sudden, violent removal of President Kennedy from the scene is still in the bones of every Russian. The murder upset Nikita Khrushchev's calculations because against all communist traditions he had begun to base his policy toward the West on the attitude of one individual, President Kennedy. He assumed, and not entirely unreasonably so, that Kennedy had it in him to take his own initiatives, which did not necessarily depend on what his governmental machine did or did not churn out for him.

Today there is no one in the Soviet Union who is not convinced that Kennedy was the victim of some sort of plot; a good many Russians go even further and believe, however absurd this may sound in the West, that President Johnson himself was the conspirator.

Thus the uneasiness about President Johnson, as seen from Moscow, is of an almost infinite variety.

At the bottom of Soviet policy today is the simple fact that Khrushchev must first of all deal with the severe challenge by the Chinese to his supremacy in the communist world. It is a traumatic experience for every Communist, and especially for the Soviet leader.

He hates to be on the defensive; it is against his nature, and so he is now preoccupied with marshalling the forces that would enable him to assume the offensive against his challengers in Peking.

Secondly, he is caught in the whirlpool of several difficult problems of transition in communist society which are creating great internal strains.

These make it imperative for the Soviet Union to have a long period of detente with the West.

And thirdly, the Soviet leadership is also well aware that the U.S. and Britain are preoccupied with the coming elections and so its aim this year is limited to preserving whatever momentum there is left in

Not Easy to Accept

It was not easy for the Russians to accept the American conditions that, in case of the arrest of an American citizen, the consul should be informed of it within 24 hours.

This goes well beyond the legal rights of an ordinary Soviet citizen under arrest enjoys in his own country. But they have now agreed to the American demand.

The agreement for a direct air route between Moscow and New York has also made much progress.

These are all small steps of limited value, but they indicate a desire on the part of the Soviet Union to reduce tension and whatever positive responses there have been from the West, especially the United States, are taken as an indication that, as the Russians like to put it, as "forces favoring a detente continue to exercise their influence."

There are also various points that the Russians do not want to rock boats that are moored to political reactions in the United States.

No Crisis Expected

For this reason, I was also told, a major move or crisis is not to be expected over German policy or in Berlin.

Those Russians who know about the continuing escapes of East Germans into West Berlin are not very proud of their East German ally, but the general feeling is that the wall has stabilized a dangerous situation and it is stability that is wanted in Germany these days, not solutions, because there are no real solutions that are acceptable to both Moscow and Washington.

Britain, because of its commercial outlook and its eagerness to do business, is a welcome trading partner, but its influence on world affairs is written off as being unimportant.

No one among the Soviet hierarchy, for instance, seems to be aware of the role which then Prime Minister Harold Macmillan played in persuading President Kennedy to perse-

Long-Range Impact

The long-range impact of the Sino-Soviet conflict in Soviet foreign policy has led some foreign diplomats in Moscow to assume that the Soviet Union will seek a closer understanding with the West, that it will be more cautious in playing the cards of the revolutionary and aspire to greater recognition as one of the great powers willing to share the burdens and responsibilities in the preservation of peace.

And it may well be that while locked in a power struggle with Peking, Khrushchev will hesithe detente, however minimal.

The new trade agreement with Britain is a reflection of the growing strains in the Soviet economy, which cannot cope on its own fast enough with the needs of a population that is getting used to higher living standards.

But it is not without political content, as nothing is that the Soviet government does.

Perhaps even more significant is the fact that the negotiations between Moscow and Washington for a new consular agreement have progressed to a point where it is now up to President Johnson to decide whether he considers it politically opportune to consummate this arrangement.

When, for instance, the Soviet government decided to return the American flyers who had been brought down over East German territory some two months ago, several Soviet political commentators said to me that a case could have been mounted against them for espionage, but that the Kremlin did not want to heat up the atmosphere with Washington and thereby give the Republicans ammunition against President Johnson, who is considered to be preferable at least to any of the prospective Republican candidates.

The Soviet press was also strikingly restrained in commenting on the army coup in Brazil. Normally the United States would have become the whipping-boy for having instigated the plot; even after President Johnson gloated over this event no full advantage was taken of it in any official statement.

"We want to keep things steady," was the private comment of one Soviet foreign affairs specialist.

vere in seeking a nuclear test ban treaty.

The Soviet press today quite openly favors the Labor Party, mostly on the assumption that Harold Wilson will take a more independent line from the United States on German policy and help to promote some of the ideas that are more palatable to the U.S.S.R.

Khrushchev is interested in President de Gaulle as a man who is troubling the Western alliance, but the French nuclear deterrent and even the possibility that the general may one day offer the Germans some nuclear weapons are dismissed of no significance.

The private but authoritative Soviet estimate of Chinese nuclear development is that they have already succeeded in their nuclear fission experiments and that it will take them about another year or two to achieve the kind of technological advance that will enable them to produce their own nuclear weapons.

But there are certain basic dogmas that stand in the way of a real rapprochement between East and West. They will dominate the thinking of this generation of Russians reared in the Stalin period and Soviet policy towards the West will therefore not undergo any drastic changes in the foreseeable future.

But I found it comforting that even if Khrushchev has great difficulties in rallying world communism to his side in his momentous fight with the Chinese, he has the full support of the Soviet people who quite obviously in this situation feel much more European and nationalist than Communist.

They also, in contrast to what I found on my last visit to the Soviet Union in 1959, do not believe any more in the possibility of war with the West nor do they expect much more for the future than "cold co-existence."

BACKGROUND

Annual 'Summit' Urged

By K. C. THALER, from London

British Labor Party leader Harold Wilson wants to make East-West summits a regular feature if he becomes Britain's next prime minister.

His idea is to have a summit meeting once a year, preferably at the United Nations.

The prime object would be for the top leaders of East and West to meet on the occasion of the United Nations General Assembly, to review major policies and, if possible, reach agreements on outstanding issues.

Moreover, the occasion would enable other government leaders from all parts of the world to avail themselves of the opportunity of the annual summit at the United Nations to meet with top leaders. Wilson's argument is that major decisions require increasingly the presence of the government leaders in present day diplomacy. His further argument is that regular summit meetings would make conferences of East-West leaders less awe-inspiring events than has been the case so far.

Wilson is flying later this month to Moscow for talks with Premier Khrushchev. He wants primarily to discuss disarmament problems with the Russian leader.

He has two particular ideas in mind in this context. He wants to sound out Khrushchev's reaction to the idea of an East-West accord on the non-dissemination of nuclear weapons, and on a nuclear weapons freeze in Central Europe, proposed by the Poles recently.

Wilson apparently hopes to get something from Khrushchev on the eve of the British election that might be pursued if he comes to power.

Britain Soft Pedals Johnson Tirade

'Storm' Glossed Over

By HAROLD MORRISON
From Washington

Britain is anxious to dispel any notion that discussions between President Johnson and British Foreign Secretary R. A. Butler over the Cuban trade issue were in any way stormy or accompanied by threats.

Butler met with Johnson at the White House April 23 where, a British source says, the president again urged the British government to support the U.S. and block further sales of transport and other equipment to the Castro regime.

The informant said the president spoke at some length on the issue, generally in the vein of his remarks at Wednesday's press conference. He expressed regret that some allies have not co-operated with the U.S. "all the way" and said the U.S. will "constantly insist" that the allies pursue a policy of economic isolation towards Cuba.

The private talks between Butler and Johnson led to a number of published reports the president stormed at Butler and that his remarks were accompanied by table-thumping and other gestures of anger. The British informant said this was not the case.

He said Johnson indicated that lack of co-operation within the alliance is embarrassing the administration in view of Cuba.

Match Us with Aid B.C. Asks Ottawa

By TERRY HAMMOND
Colonist Legislative Reporter

Depreciated Alberni property loss caused by Good Friday's tidal waves has been assessed at $1,500,000 and Premier Bennett has asked the federal government to put up half.

The figure embraces all uninsured loss except that of large industries and is about half the sum originally

Results of an independent damage appraisal were placed before the cabinet yesterday. The premier wired Prime Minister Pearson for $750,000 a short time later.

Federal approval of the request would likely end the latest political feud between Premier Bennett and federal Resources Minister Arthur Laing.

Mr. Laing, a former B.C. Liberal leader who has crossed political swords with the premier before, became a Bennett target earlier this week when he said Ottawa couldn't help the Alberni unless B.C. declared that compensation was beyond its financial capabilities.

PLAN FOR FUTURE

He also said an earlier telegram from the premier asking for agreement on a 50-50 split of compensation could be interpreted as an outline of a plan for future disasters.

Mr. Bennett said Mr. Laing was playing politics and being stupid.

REAL PROGRESS

Mayor Bishop told reporters "it would appear we made real progress today."

Said Mayor Hammer: "We are anxiously awaiting a reply from Ottawa."

They said they were well pleased with B.C.'s pledge to pay $750,000 of the loss and added, "we just hope Ottawa will be as generous."

They said a meeting of the Alberni Disaster Relief Fund committee would be held as soon as possible after Ottawa has replied to the premier's latest wire.

SEVERE BLOW

Mayor Bishop said the difference between depreciated value and replacement cost will likely come as a severe blow to some victims of the waves.

He expressed the hope that victims would get 100 cents on the dollar for their depreciated holdings and said there has been no decision on what to do in cases where the difference between depreciated value and replacement cost will cause severe hardship.

Under discussion, he said, is whether victims should be allowed to resettle in the flooded areas. If they were moved in order to safeguard against future tidal wave losses, they would be entitled to additional compensation for their land.

PRIORITY FOR NEED

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black said earlier that compensation funds will be distributed as soon as possible and that priority will be established on the basis of need.

He hinted that compensation might exceed depreciated values in some cases, but declined to go into details.

Money for this assistance presumably would come from the $500,000 which the Alberni disaster fund expects in donations.

Suspects In Custody

Newark before travelling to Atlantic City.

Det. Sgt. Joseph Armstrong said last night the prompt arrests were a wonderful example of co-operation by United States Immigration officials in Seattle and Newark, the Newark city police, Detroit police and immigration officials, Windsor police and the RCMP.

"They deserve all the credit. They ran down every possible lead and have worked very hard," said Det. Sgt. Armstrong.

He said the RCMP and United States Immigration service worked in close co-operation during the investigation. "It is difficult to put into words how well they co-operated."

"Saanich is only a small place but all the departments gave us full co-operation," he said.

B.C. Universities Agree

No Fighting for Funds

VANCOUVER (CP)—The presidents of British Columbia's three public universities agreed Thursday night to co-operate in their public appeals for development funds.

Agreement was reached at a dinner, attended by Education Minister Peterson and President John Macdonald of the University of B.C., Ian McTaggart-Cowan of Simon Fraser and Dr. Malcolm Taylor of the University of Victoria.

"We want to encourage healthy rivalry in many fields; we don't want and will not encourage unhealthy competition to try and gain financial support at the expense of each other," said Dr. Macdonald, acting as spokesman.

All three universities have announced money drives this fall for unstated amounts.

Dr. Macdonald said each university recognizes that "none can be strong unless they all are."

U.K. Local Elections

Swing to Labor Continues

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain's current swing to the opposition Labor party continued Thursday night in returns from almost 400 local elections through England and Wales.

With returns in from 300 of the town council races—out of 366 with contests plus 24 where candidates were unopposed—Labor thus far had a net gain of 187 seats. The Conservatives, in power nationally, dropped 88 seats while independents lost 51 and the Liberals 45.

Hotel Bill

Lawford Blasts Hilton

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—An angry Peter Lawford Thursday accused the owners of the Hilton Hotels Corp. of tactlessly embarrassing him, his wife and family by suing him for an unpaid bill.

Lawford said he was not concerned with the amount of money involved, $6,762, but by what he called the lack of "decency and taste" on the part of the hotel chain.

The suit, filed in superior court Monday, charged the bill was amassed between August, 1962, and November, 1963.

PERSONAL BILL

The actor acknowledged that he owed the hotel a personal bill for $4,962, but that the additional $1,800 was unfairly charged against his Christlaw Productions in the course of shooting the movie, "Johnny Cool," on location at the Beverly-Hilton hotel.

"They've lumped that $1,800 in with my personal account at the hotel and it isn't right," Lawford said. "It was clearly understood the suites used by our company for interior shots and dressing rooms were to be provided free of charge in exchange for the publicity and goodwill given the hotel in our picture."

Mr. Holliday said there were at least 33 businesses in the Alberni in urgent need of financial assistance. There were also some cases where children were still separated from their families and people paying mortgages on destroyed property in addition to paying rent for living accommodation elsewhere.

Lawford added that Conrad Hilton and his son, Barron, had seen a preview of the film and expressed delight in seeing the hotel prominently photographed in many scenes.

"As far as I'm concerned, you can use the hotel anytime," Lawford quoted Hilton as telling him.

SCORED HEAVILY

In Hackney, first such borough to come up with final returns, Labor scored heavily to win all 60 borough council seats in this industrial area.

Labour also took the new London borough of Barking, with 45 seats to four for its opponents.

This week's contests represented the second instalment of the annual British elections to choose local government officials across the land.

The county council elections held in early April indicated a clear swing away from the ruling Conservative party toward the Labor party.

LONDON COUNCIL

One of the most significant signs of the county elections was said to be the election of a Labor party majority for the Greater London Council. The Labor party gained 64 of the 100 seats in that contest.

Political analysts said if the results of the county elections were to be transferred to the feelings in a general election, Britain would have a Labor government.

Worker Loses Thumb, Finger

A mill worker lost his thumb and one finger as he was working on a sticking machine in Van Isle Moulding, 5117 Del Monte.

Corporation of the Township of Esquimalt By-Law No. 1088

BEING a By-law to provide for the acquisition of property and the construction thereon of a swimming pool and authorize the borrowing of the estimated cost thereof.

WHEREAS the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the Township of Esquimalt deems it desirable and expedient to construct a swimming pool;

AND WHEREAS the Council deems it to be necessary to acquire lands and premises adjoining the Esquimalt Municipal Sports Centre as a site for the proposed swimming pool;

AND WHEREAS the Council has obtained preliminary plans and has caused estimates of cost to be prepared by its Consulting Engineer, the said plans and estimates of cost being available for inspection in the office of the Municipal Engineer at the Municipal Hall, Esquimalt;

AND WHEREAS it is estimated that it will be necessary to provide a sum not exceeding Three Hundred and Eighty-Three Thousand Dollars ($383,000.00) for the construction of the proposed swimming pool, including acquisition of a site, furnishings, equipment, landscaping, paving, and incidental expenses in connection therewith;

AND WHEREAS the sum of Three Hundred and Eighty-Three Thousand Dollars ($383,000.00) is the maximum amount of the debt intended to be created by this By-law;

AND WHEREAS it is necessary that the said money to be raised hereunder be raised on the credit of the said Corporation;

AND WHEREAS the existing debt of the said Corporation is Eight Hundred and Forty-Five Thousand Eight Hundred and Eighty-Four Dollars ($845,800.00) and none of the principal and interest in respect thereof is in arrears;

AND WHEREAS the assessed value for general municipal purposes of the taxable land and improvements within the Municipality for the current year and the two years immediately preceding the current year is as follows:

|------|-----------------|
| 1962 | $16,882,328.00 |
| 1963 | $17,086,108.00 |
| 1964 | $17,864,395.00 |

AND WHEREAS the approval of the Inspector of Municipalities has been obtained.

NOW THEREFORE THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL OF THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF ESQUIMALT, in open meeting assembled, enacts as follows:

- The Municipal Council of the Corporation of the Township of Esquimalt shall be and is hereby empowered and authorized to acquire lands and premises adjoining the Esquimalt Municipal Sports Centre and to construct thereon a swimming pool generally in accordance with the preliminary plans on file in the office of the Municipal Engineer at the Municipal Hall, Esquimalt.
- For the purpose and with the object aforesaid there may be borrowed on the credit of the said Corporation, a sum not exceeding Three Hundred and Eighty-Three Thousand Dollars ($383,000.00), and such borrowing shall be secured by the issue of debentures bearing interest at a rate not exceeding six per centum (6%) per annum, provided, however, that each of such series of debentures shall be redeemed not later than twenty years after the date of issue.
- In each year during the currency of the said debentures, there shall be levied and raised by a rate sufficient therefor, over and above all other rates on all land and improvements subject to taxation for general municipal purposes within the Municipality at the same time and in the same manner as other rates, a special rate to provide for the repayment of the debt hereby created and the interest thereon.
- This By-law, before adoption, shall receive the assent of the Owner-electors in the manner provided by the "Municipal Act."
- This By-law shall take effect on the date of its adoption by the Municipal Council.
- This By-law may be cited as the "Esquimalt Municipal Swimming Pool Construction and Property Acquisition Financing By-law, 1964."

TAKE NOTICE that the above is a true copy of the proposed By-law upon which the vote of the Owner-electors of the Municipality will be taken at the Municipal Hall, 1229 Esquimalt Road, on the Twenty-third (23rd) day of May, 1964, between the hours of eight o'clock in the forenoon (8:00 a.m.) and eight o'clock in the afternoon (8:00 p.m.) and that Jack Wilmer Allan has been appointed Returning Officer for the purpose of taking and recording the vote of Owner-electors.

Dated at Esquimalt, B.C., this 5th day of May, 1964.

Driver Not Linked With Faulty Car

A charge arising from a fatal accident Feb. 17 was dismissed in city court yesterday after the Crown failed to prove the accused was driving a car with faulty brakes.

John William King, 24, of 658 Beacon, was charged with having faulty brakes on his vehicle when it was in collision with another driven by Bone Watkins, 18, Feb. 17.

Miss Watkins, a bakery worker, died of internal injuries after the crash, in which her car spun around at Michigan and Government and passed over her after she was flung from the vehicle by the impact.

HAD NO BRAKES

Yesterday a mechanic testified he had examined one of the vehicles Feb. 19 and it had no brakes. He said in his opinion this condition existed at the time of the crash.

Defence counsel Alan Bigelow moved for dismissal of the charge yesterday after he said no Crown evidence identified King as the driver of the faulty car.

TAPE RECORDING

Tape-recorded testimony played back in court, showed King admitted driving "on Government" but at no time had police asked the accused if he had driven the faulty car.

King was officially charged with driving without brakes "on a highway... to wit, the intersection of Government and Michigan Streets."

This, said Magistrate Ostler, did not pinpoint him as the driver of either car, and he dismissed the charge.

Bite by Tick Fatal to Girl

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Police said Thursday poison from a woodtick bite is believed to have caused the death of a three-year-old girl.

Anita Louise John was bitten Tuesday at her home at the Neokolith Indian reserve. She lapsed into unconsciousness in an hour and died shortly afterwards. The child was one of a family of 12. An older sister knocked the tick off the child.

Commons Could Be Hamstrung By Many Parties, Says Tory

OTTAWA (CP) — An opposition MP said Thursday the Canadian Parliament is headed for the multiplicity of political parties which hamstrung earlier French national assemblies.

Eileen Williams (PC—New River) made the statement in expressing personal doubts about the wisdom of an experimental rule change approved by the Commons on recommendation of an all-party rules committee. Under the change, cabinet ministers would be required to state only essential facts and avoid provoking debate in making formal statements.

Mr. Williams was critical of a provision in the rule permitting one spokesman from each opposition party to comment on the minister's statement under the same limitations. He said he believes Parliament functions best as a two-party system. He suggested MPs examine the experience of France, forecasting that the Canadian Parliament may one day see 10 different parties.

King Fisherman

Added Trout Division Appears to Be Popular

This month will tell the story as to whether or not the added river trout division in the Colonial King Fisherman contest is a good idea or not.

Early indications are that anglers are accepting it with enthusiasm.

Idea is that steelheaders were winning all the River Trout Prince Buttons with the heavier steelies, although their fish were not as quality specimens as the big cutthroats and browns caught by other anglers.

A six or seven-pound cutthroat or brown trout is a highly prized trophy fish, but a 12-pound steelie is not particularly special.

This year on a trial basis the river trout division will see five of the 15 monthly Prince Buttons for heaviest fish reserved for river trout other than steelhead.

New entry forms listing river trout by species have been distributed and weigh-in stations have been asked to enter them according to species.

Happy Mother's Day, Dad!

Yes Dad, HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY to You, because we know you want to make this a special day—by even doing the dishes! But this is only one time of the year, and Mom faces this daily drudgery all year long. Why not make every day a happy one by giving her a KitchenAid Home Dishwasher? Her finest dishes, crystal and silverware will not only be washed clinic-clean, but rinsed and dried sparkling bright. Pots and pans too...in fact hand pre-rinsing is unnecessary. She'll simply scrape and place utensils in convenient racks, push a button and her dishwashing will be done.

Make this truly MOTHER'S DAY and enjoy it together—by letting KitchenAid do the dishwashing chore. Also, both of you will be free to do those more important things, and it will be HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY to you too, Dad!

There is a KitchenAid for every kitchen...every budget:

- 5 SMARTLY STYLED PORTABLES
- 3 GREAT BUILT-IN SERIES
- 2 DISHWASHER-SINK COMBINATIONS
- AND FREE-STANDING MODELS TOO

One quality and performance in all models!

Idiots Baffle Science

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Twin "idiot geniuses," so retarded they can neither add nor subtract but who can say instantly the years any given date will fall on a Sunday, were described yesterday at the American Psychiatric Association convention.

The psychiatrist who reported their case called them walking computers insofar as dates are concerned.

Science is baffled by their ability.

They can recall almost any day in their lives and say accurately whether it was cloudy, sunny or rainy, it was reported.

One of the unidentified 24-year-old identical twins, Charles, is accurate only for this century. The other, George, can project his mental calculations centuries before and centuries beyond so-called perpetual calendars, charts which automatically calculate dates over 300 to 400 years.

George can instantly name Feb. 15, 2002, as a Friday, or Aug. 28, 1951, as a Saturday. His range is at least 2,000 years.

Neither can add, subtract, multiply nor divide, but weirdly enough can tell you when some famous man in history was born and how old he would be if alive today.

Oswald Framed?

LONDON (Reuters)—American author Thomas Buchanan claimed Thursday Lee Oswald was "framed" in the assassination of President Kennedy and suggested the real instigators of the murder were big capitalists. Buchanan's book "Who Killed Kennedy?" is to be published today.

By CHALMERS M. ROBERTS

WASHINGTON — The Warren Commission investigating the assassination of President Kennedy is now face to face with its biggest problem: What to do about its chief rival, an American named Thomas Buchanan.

On the face of it, it is absurd to call Buchanan, an admitted ex-Communist now living in Paris, a "rival" to a group of seven distinguished Americans headed by the Chief Justice of the United States.

SEEDS OF DOUBT

But, in fact, Buchanan is just that. He is the man who has sowed vast quantities of seeds of doubt about the assassination last Nov. 22 in Dallas.

It is his contention that the murder was not the act of a single man, Lee Oswald, but the product of some form of conspiracy with international implications of major importance.

The Warren Commission report, expected to be published in June, almost certainly will reflect a unanimous view that Oswald and he alone was responsible. The commission plans to publish a lengthy summary of the evidence along with its conclusions. Drafting is already under way.

To meet the Buchanan problem, however, even more will be required.

First of all, the entire record of the commission's interrogations, running to thousands of pages, also must be printed and made public. That was done in the case of the lengthy Pearl Harbor investigation, another inquiry into a major national disaster.

But most important is the need for the commission to meet Buchanan head on. Unless this is done the conspiracy theory cannot be laid to rest.

On May 8 a British book publisher is bringing out an English edition expanding on the articles Buchanan wrote for the French weekly L'Express. Serial rights already have been widely sold.

Buchanan is a one-time Washington Star reporter who was fired in 1948 after admitting Communist party membership.

Buchanan has constructed, apparently entirely from newspaper and magazine reports, a Marxist-style conspiracy theory about Oswald and the assassination: it was organized by a right-wing group which erroneously thought Vice-President Johnson would alter the Kennedy "appeasement" foreign policy once he became president.

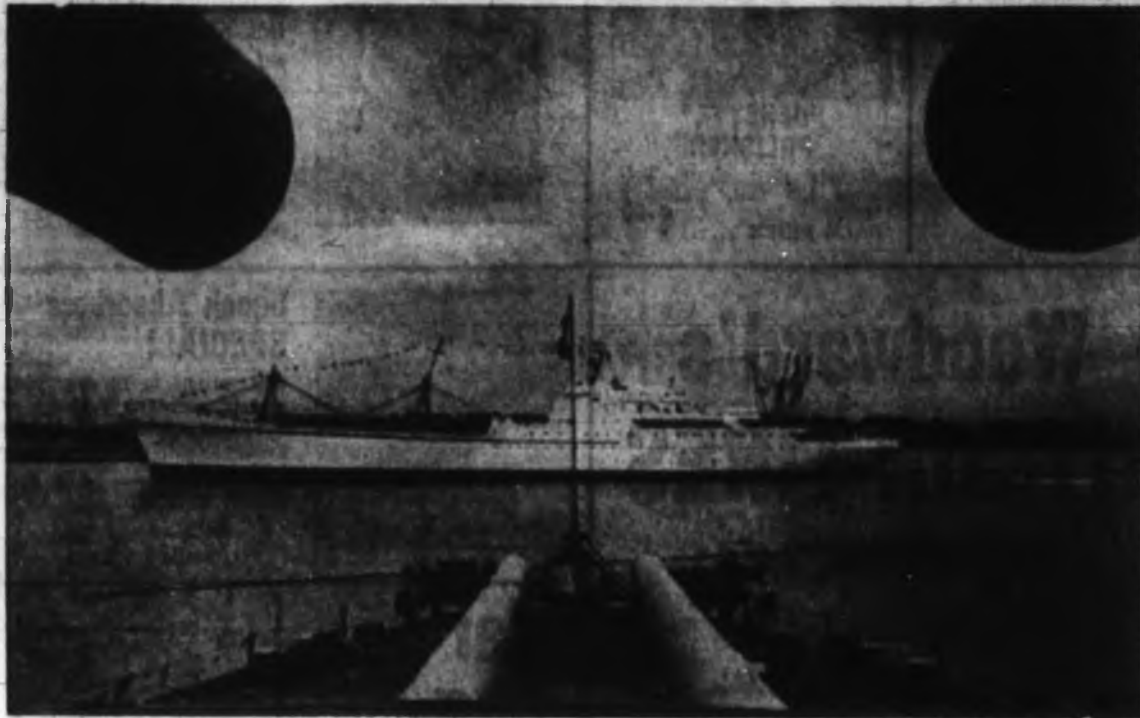

Oswald was involved, having turned right wing himself and "probably" having fed the FBI names of those he knew in the Fair Play for Cuba Committee; Oswald, probably had two accomplices, one of whom (perhaps Jack Ruby) shot the president from the overpass in front of his car.

Buchanan says he became interested in the case because he was afraid the assassination might jeopardize the East-West détente, a fear the Soviet Union initially quite obviously shared. However, the Warren commission has turned up no evidence of Soviet complicity nor of Oswald's connections with the FBI nor of Ruby's association with Oswald.

SEE HARD Conspiracy theories die hard. No matter what the Warren commission does, some will still choose to believe a conspiracy was involved. But the bulk of world opinion, both at home and abroad, probably is still open to conviction — provided the commission omits nothing and faces up in detail to every conceivable theory, however fantastic.

Research Needed In Aged Problems

OTTAWA (CP)—One of individual MPs and senators. Dr. Selye made a plea Thursday for federal help for research that basic research—not just food, shelter and social games—is the prime need in dealing with the problems of the aged.

He urged the government to search out talent that could be subsidized for scientific investigation. Dr. Selye said experiments showed that research on aging problems could do more than just looking after the elderly in a social sense.

Humane Animal Killer-Trap Demonstrated to Delegates

Frank Conibear, 1177 Fort Victoria inventor of an award-winning humane animal killer-trap, demonstrated his trap and talked about humane trap developments yesterday at the two-day American Humane Association Conference at the Empress Hotel.

Around 50 delegates from B.C., Oregon, Washington and California attended the conference, which continues today.

The conference began with a welcome by R. T. Phillips, executive director of the American Humane Association.

Mr. Phillips said in the 57 years of its history, the AHA had learned that such an organization could only succeed if it operated on democratic principles for the benefit of the majority.

Father of 24-D Dead in U.S.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Funeral services for Franklin D. Jones, discoverer of the chemical weed killer known as 2,4-D will be held in suburban Ardmore today.

"We have learned that the steady, step-by-step approach to animal welfare problems, while perhaps not flashy or glamorous, is the sure way to lasting progress," he said.

Mr. Phillips said Be Kind to Animals Week—currently in progress—had served as one of the most effective means of making the public aware of the work of humane movements.

Other speakers yesterday included Dr. James Hatter, director of the B.C. Fish and Game Branch, who talked about humane aspects in the management of wild life; AHA field consultant R. P. Lambert who spoke on functional animal shelter planning; and G. M. Crozier, of Los Angeles SPCA, who gave a talk on roadside zoos.

CONTINUES TODAY

The conference continues today with talks by F. R. Andrews, AHA field consultant; C. L. Neilson, B.C. provincial entomologist; Dr. G. C. Carl, director of the provincial museum, and Gerald Dalmadge, director of field services for the Northern California SPCA.

This afternoon there will be an open forum and a tour of the Victoria branch SPCA shelter.

Rich Colombia Rancher Kidnapped for Ransom

VILLAVICENCIO, Colombia (AP) — Elias Geviara, a wealthy rancher, was kidnapped Wednesday by armed gunmen who stopped his car by placing a tree across the road. The family received a note later asking 200,000 pesos ($20,000) ransom.

Victorious Student Leaders

Three Victorians have been named to the Students Council of the Notre Dame University at Nelson.

Miss Virginia Johnson was named director of clubs; Miss Ella Mae Connor, second year president, and Miss Zina Rosso, second year representative.

From Port Alberni, Miss Sharon Menezes is secretary, and John Stegman is the fourth year representative.

Red Aid for Algeria

MOSCOW — Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella left the Soviet Union Thursday with a long-term loan of $126,500,000, part of it to be used for construction of a 300,000-ton steel mill of Soviet design and equipment.

Meanwhile, Premier Khrushchev and his family were bound for Egypt in another move to bolster Soviet influence in North Africa.

OFF TO BULGARIA

Ben Bella left for Bulgaria after a 13-day state visit to the Soviet Union.

Ben Bella and Khrushchev will meet again May 15 at the dedication of a bypass channel for the Aswan high dam on the Nile. The Russians are contributing $247,000,000 plus engineering know-how to the dam construction.

FRANCE, U.S. HELP

The long-term credit of $126,500,000 to Algeria follows a $100,000,000 loan last year. But France is aiding Algeria with $480,000,000 a year, plus considerable technical assistance. The U.S. gives Algeria about $20,000,000 a year, mostly in surplus foods and commodities. A joint communique signed by Ben Bella and Khrushchev also announced the gift of an oil and gas technical school for 1,000 students, with a Soviet faculty.

Stolen Arms Recovered Favreau Tells Commons

OTTAWA (UPI)—Justice Minister Guy Favreau told the Commons yesterday that "at least a large number, if not all" of the arms stolen from Quebec armories earlier this year have been recovered.

He said that two police raids in Montreal had smashed the Separatist organization and led to recovery of the weapons.

Aerial view shows world's first full-scale solution-method potash plant

Potash for 8,000 Years

NEW YORK (CP)—Production of potash, especially from the world's first full-scale solution-method potash mining operation, will begin in Saskatchewan in October, Kallum Chemicals Limited executives told a press conference here Thursday.

They said the success of the solution-method mining operation, which pumps the potash to the surface in a liquid through drill holes similar to oil wells, boosts the world's commercially available potash reserves sufficiently to meet expected needs for 8,000 years.

Potash is used primarily as a fertilizer ingredient and Boyd R. Willett, vice-president and general manager of Kallum, said that by next January, when the 1965 fertilizer season begins, the company's plant west of Regina will be producing potash at the rate of 600,000 tons a year.

Much of this will be for export markets, in the United States at first and later in the Far East.

Port on Strike Cattle Starve

NEW DELHI (AP)—A port strike in Bombay is preventing unloading of 15,000 tons of U.S. grain for starving cattle in drought-stricken western India, it was learned Wednesday.

Steel Merger Bid Sham, Say Miners

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (U.M.S.W.) said Wednesday a merger proposal from a rival union was insincere.

Ken Smith of Toronto flatly rejected any merger with the United Steelworkers of America (U.S.A.).

Speaking at the annual convention of Mine-Mill's west division here Mr. Smith said: "We are certainly prepared to talk co-operation. But what Canadian worker could have respect for us if we merged or affiliated with the Steelworkers?"

Steel could not fight to keep jobs and secondary industry in Canada because this might conflict with United States interests, he said.

Inspector Warns:

Terrorists Lie Low

MONTREAL (UPI)—Quebec's anti-terrorist squad warned Thursday the revolutionary Quebec Liberation Army was not necessarily "dead" following a string of arrests and recovery of the three-force squad.

"It is more than possible that still other terrorists are lying low and some of the stolen arms and ammunition have not been recovered."

OTHER POLICE AGREE

Insp. Carriere's statements were backed up by director Joseph Brunet of the Quebec provincial police and Insp. Russell Senecal of the Montreal force, who heads up the crack anti-terrorist squad.

Following more than half a dozen arrests earlier this week, Attorney-General Rene Hamel told the Quebec legislature the ALQ had been "smashed."

NOT ALL YET

"Certainly we've had some spectacular success," said Insp. Carriere, "but I do not believe we have them all yet."

Insp. Senecal warned of the danger that some "hotheads" still at large might panic and "lose their heads."

Insp. Carriere laughed off the idea there was a "mastermind" behind the latest outbreak of terrorism.

DYNAMITE CACHE

Earlier this week police nabbed a large cache of dynamite bombs all set with timing devices in a raid at St. Hyacinthe. The seizure indicated the ALQ, like its predecessor of a year ago, the FLQ, could have been ready to launch another series of bombings.

Rookie Yield Is High But Oliva Looks Best

This is the year of the rookie in major league baseball and it's beginning to look as if Minnesota Twins have fallen far to the outstanding first-year man out of a bumper crop.

That would be Tony Oliva, a speedy, left-handed-hitting outfielder who has added powerful depth to the toughest batting order in the American League.

BIG DAY Oliva, who has made a first-baseman out of Bob Allison, hit his sixth and seventh home runs yesterday as the Twins blasted Los Angeles Angels.

His first homer came in the sixth inning with the bases loaded and broke a 1-1 tie. Oliva ended the afternoon with two singles in addition to his home runs. He leads the major leagues in hits with 38 and his batting average is now at .427.

Sophomore Jim Hall blasted his sixth home run for the Twins, who now have 35 round-trippers in their first 20 games.

WHL to Carry On as Usual But Los Angeles Eyes NHL

SEATTLE — Western Hockey League officials claimed to have all six teams back for entry into the National Hockey League. No clarification was offered, nor was it really needed.

For several seasons the WHL has had ambitions to promote itself to major league status, becoming a western division of the NHL. Yesterday, a report in a Los Angeles paper claimed the Blades were were adopted whereby any city or all six members may apply for entry into the National Hockey League. No clarification was offered, nor was it really needed.

No mention was made of the report in the league's statement last night, nor was comment offered on a report that the Denver franchise would be shifted to Long Beach. Another report that the league might merge with the American Hockey League was denied.

The WHL did say that Denver, plagued by poor attendance while winning the league title this season, had requested and received a six-week extension in order to conduct a season ticket campaign.

"If the club sells 2,000 season tickets, Denver will operate in the WHL," the statement said. "If they fall short of that figure other arrangements will be made."

At present the league is composed of Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Portland and Vancouver. Calgary and Edmonton, who have had a one-season leave of absence, were not represented at the meeting and word is that they are not returning.

The Los Angeles paper, quoting "a high NHL source," had this version of what was going to happen:

A player draft would be conducted with each of the six NHL teams holding nine players and the Blades selecting three of the remainder from each club and the clubs building their rosters back up to 18 with players from their minor league clubs.

SECRET PARTNER
Blades' co-owners Jim Piggott and Dan Reeves would bring in a third partner, supposedly a person now in the NHL's upper echelon.

Springfield and Providence would drop from the league and the remaining five WHL teams would join the AHL to form a 12-team league in two divisions, with Cleveland playing in the west.

Denver would move to Long Beach for next season, then to a new rink in San Diego the following year when the Blades bring NHL hockey to the West Coast.

Expansion of the NHL was first rumored to include San Francisco as well as Los Angeles, the theory being that it would cut down on travelling expenses to have two teams on the West Coast.

PIGGOTT HOPEFUL
Piggott and Coley Hall, co-owner of the San Francisco club, left the day-long WHL meeting at one point yesterday, saying they had made a proposal the other delegates were considering. Neither would elaborate.

Piggott did have one comment about the report his Blades were NHL bound:

"I don't know where it came from," he said, "but I sure hope it's true."

In Montreal, NHL president Clarence Campbell would not comment on the situation at all. "I'll just wait and see," he told reporters.

Pin Bonspiel Guessing Game

Undoubtedly the biggest asset of bonspiel bowling is its uncertainty. Over any prolonged stretch the high-average bowler will almost always prevail but when the decision is based on three games in a handicap tournament it becomes another matter. There are just enough upsets sprinkled along the way to encourage anyone.

The check also showed that 21 matches were decided by less than 50 points, which is approximately the difference between a blow and a double, and that teams of high-average bowlers missed out in seven of eight cases because they could not play up to their averages with any consistency.

The result was that the 12 semi-finalists are a cross-section of the fivepin bowling fraternity. Averages range from 140 to 262 and exactly half the 48 survivors own averages below the 200 which is considered the minimum for reasonable excellence.

Judging from scores turned in, the semi-finals and finals all appear to be tossups.

Meeting in the Colonist event, which offers $400 to the winner, $200 to the defeated finalist and $100 to the defeated semi-finalists are Robinson Rollers of Nanaimo and Chenaimos, a Nanaimo-Chenaimos combo, and Dams and Automotive Sales.

A mixed team with a 424 handicap, the Dams all sizzled during the bonspiel. Shirley Moore, a 150-average bowler, averaged 195. Marvin Moore was 23 points over his average.

Donna Brock five points over hers and anchor-man Bud Brock averaged a red-hot 260 for his 12 games.

Teams and personnel with team handicap and individual averages in brackets and previous bonspiel matches are shown alongside.

Shamrocks Try Unwin

Victoria Shamrocks have found one candidate to try and solve their goalkeeping problem in the Inter-City Lacrosse League.

Victoria's Dave Unwin, 29, who played two seasons with Vancouver in 1957 and 1959, will attend workouts next week.

"But except for three games I haven't had a stick in my hand since Vancouver," Unwin warned last night. "The workouts will just be to see if the eyes and reflexes are still there."

HOUSTON (AP)—The death of one young athlete may have indirectly saved the life of another.

Mickey Herskowitz of the Houston Post, travelling with Houston Colts, told the story from Los Angeles Wednesday.

To weeks ago Jack Pardee, a linebacker with Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League, underwent surgery for the removal of a malignant growth on his right forearm.

Pardee, now recovering at his home in California's San Fernando Valley, will know within 30 days whether he can report in July for the start of his eighth professional season.

Mexico's All-Out Olympic Planning Makes 1968 Something to Anticipate

On Wanted List

Soccer's "wizard of dribble," Stanley Matthews, 40, of Stoke City is being sought to play for Toronto City in Eastern Canada Professional Soccer League.

VANCOUVER—Mexico City doesn't hold the Olympic Games until 1968, but preparations are so far advanced that the city could stage this year's edition of the Games if necessary.

That is the word from Pancho Contreras, playing captain of Mexico's Davis Cup tennis team, visiting here this week as part of a goodwill mission to publicize his country. Yesterday he took time out to explain, in justifiable pride, the manner in which his country has accepted the Olympic Games challenge.

He spoke of a drive-in soccer stadium, a freeway ringing Mexico City, arena seats sold on 90-year lease, and a Games budget of $80,000,000.

Mexico City currently has four stadiums, each seating more than 20,000, an indoor sports auditorium seating 20,000, and an Olympic pool with a 20,000-seat capacity. There will be a new main stadium seating more than 150,000, and an out-of-the-world soccer stadium that will hold 105,000 fans.

"Our Olympic Village will accommodate 12,000 athletes and officials," Contreras said. "It will cost $15,000,000, and when the Games are over this development will become a housing development for government employees, accommodating more than 5,000 families."

type, and 10 per cent have been set aside and are available on a 99-year lease basis. The leases cost from $700 to $800.

"But the big attraction is the second-tier box seats. The ultimate luxury."

"There will be a ramp circling this tier, and box holders will be able to drive their cars up the ramp and park outside their boxes. Each box seats 10, has toilets and provisions for its own private bar. Each box costs $12,000 to $15,000 on the 99-year lease basis."

And speaking of cars . . . Three-quarters of a freeway circling Mexico City is already completed. Figuring a speed of 60 to 70 miles per hour, visitors will be able to circle the city of 2,250,000 in half an hour, and it will take only 20 minutes to get from the Olympic Village to any Olympic facility.

Hockey is also catching on in Mexico, Contreras added.

"We have an ice hockey rink already built. It seats 3,000, but can be expanded. We have a four-team league, all Mexican players, operating now. There is much interest."

By 1968, Mexico's Olympic budget will have reached $80,000,000.

"Is it not something to be proud of?" Contreras asked. "Does the whole project not stagger the imagination?"

The answer has to be yes.

OUTDOORS with Alec Merriman

Eyes will be on Cowichan Lake Saturday when the St. Louis Men's Society holds its fifth annual trout derby from 5 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Since the King Fishermen contest opened one week ago Cowichan Lake has produced more trout entries than all other lakes put together and they range up to 5.3 pounds . . . and that provides a pretty good outlook for Saturday's derby.

But that doesn't mean that trout are just hopping into the boat. They aren't, but they are there for the good and the lucky anglers. Trout are being taken all around the perimeter of the lake. Marble Bay and Bear Lake have been good to fly fishermen. From the Cedars to the Narrows has been good for trollers. Use spoons or gang trolls and worms, trolled slowly and with one ounce of weight or less, and troll close to shore.

The islands off Cayuse have been giving up some of the biggest trout.

Anyone who gets a ticket may enter the derby, with weigh-in stations at Cedar Resort, government wharf, Cayuse, Yonbu Marina and Gordon Bay. You will be able to enter the King Fishermen contest at any of the weigh-in stations.

Fishing all over is just so-so. At some places, limit catches are being taken on some days, then there is cool weather again and fishing goes into a lull.

Bob Kennedy and Carman Angus, fishing with the Zaccarelli at Upper Campbell, found fishing slow at first at Upper Campbell at the weekend. Then as the sun was low in the sky and got in their eyes they moved to the shadows, in close to shore at the corner near the mouth of the Elk along the logging road. There they just couldn't keep the trout off their lines. They limited in no time, several of them King Fishermen weighers up to two pounds.

John Ebert reports Lower Campbell has come on fairly well with best catches at Miller Creek and below Fry Lake.

F5 Flatfish, yellow or with red spots, and Ford Fender or Willow Leaf trolls have been best producers.

Gosling, Gray and all the other small lakes in the Sayward forest have been providing easy limits of small trout when the weather has been warm and not windy. Roberts Lake is giving up some fair-sized fish.

There is a fresh run of summer steelhead in the Gold and the Salmon and Oyster Rivers are producing steelies, as are the Big Qualicum, Little Qualicum, Nanaimo, Chemainus, Cowichan.

The end of Taylor Arm on Sprout Lake and the Taylor River have been giving up some sporty cutthroat fishing. There has been good fly-fishing . . . wet and dry, on the Cowichan River, and now is the time to seek that record brown.

Quamichan Lake has been good for bait and troll fishermen. Weekes Lake has been giving up easy limits of small trout for some anglers and very few for others. Prospect, Elk-Beaver and Duranville Lakes are all good bets. Big Thetis Lake has been providing some fine trout.

Halibut season is now open and some sports fishermen have taken halibut off Oak Bay, Pedder Bay and Port Renfrew.

Salmon fishing could be called almost poor, but some springs are being taken at Port Renfrew, Otter Point-Sooke, Pedder Bay, Oak Bay and in Saanich Inlet.

Finlayson Arm appears the best bet in Saanich Inlet, but it has been taking a lot of scratching to get fish. Bluebacks are providing some sport on the outside of Discovery Island.

Northwest Bay and Lantzville waters are good for bluebacks. Herring gulls have been working like crazy off Qualicum, which probably means they are after baby shrimp and where they are you are certain to find plenty of bluebacks.

Victoria Fish and Game Club will have a double-header in the gun world Sunday . . . a merchandise trap shoot at the Goldstream clubgrounds starting at 1 p.m. with all shooters and spectators welcome, and the first Vancouver Island Shooting League pistol tournament starting at 10 a.m. at the Esquimalt Lagoon range.

Lions Want Ohler Back

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Lions of the Western Football Conference have asked Winnipeg Blue Bombers to return draftee Pete Ohler to their club.

Winnipeg was fined $500 Wednesday by football commissioner Sydney Halter for violation of the rules governing the Western Conference's Canadian equalization draft. The Bombers were in touch with a Lions' player before the draft and also told him of other names on their list of prospects. Both are violations of the draft's rules.

In a letter to the commissioner, the Lions informed him they assume the fine will be turned over to their club but more important they have asked that Winnipeg's drafting of Ohler be declared invalid and that Ohler be restored to the Lions.

"We feel the fine is insufficient in view of the serious nature of the offence," said Lions' general manager Herb Capozzi.

Allan Cup to Winnipeg First Time in 33 Years

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Allan Cup, emblem of the Canadian senior hockey championship, returned to Winnipeg after a 33-year absence Thursday night as Winnipeg Maroons.

clipped Woodstock Athletics 5-3 for a four-game sweep in a best-of-seven final series.

A crowd of 6,500 roared as the final buzzer went, honoring the smooth passing, tight defence, and sparkling goaltending that carried Maroons to victory in their second consecutive cup appearance.

Maroon goaltender Don Collins, a standout in his club's 5-0, 7-1 and 5-0 victories in the first three games, again rated a hero's role. He made 35 saves and came up with a fine effort in the third period to block two consecutive shots on four separate occasions to stall a Woodstock comeback.

Winnipeg scorers were Jim MacKenzie, Aggie Kukulowicz, Al Johnson, Chuck Lumsden and Ross Parke.

Athletics got goals from Jack McIntyre, Tommy Wilson and Ron Mason.

Byng Award To Wharram

MONTREAL (UPI) — Ken Wharram has become the first Chicago Black Hawk in 19 years to win the Lady Byng Trophy, awarded at the end of each season to the National Hockey League player who best combines ability with clean play.

Wharram, who drew only 18 goals and 32 assists this past season to finish sixth in the individual scoring race.

minutes in penalties for a team which set a new team record of 1,116 minutes, drew 120 points in the voting to the 89 polled by Toronto-centre Dave Keen, winner the past two years. Then came New York's Camille Henry with 50 points, Chicago's Bobby Hull with 28, New York's Phil Goyette with 21 and Boston's Murray Oliver with 13.

Wharram, who was chosen all-star rightwinger, scored 39 goals and had 32 assists this past season to finish sixth in the individual scoring race.

Ex-Policeman Fights To Protect Outdoors

By JOE DUFUIS

MONTREAL (CP) — If it were possible, Ernie Pleau would like to catch a trout using a line made of the strands of a spider web.

"For me, a fly is never too tiny, or a leader too fine," he says.

But if Pleau is firmly devoted to the idea that a sport fisherman should give his prey every chance to outwit him, he goes even further with the principle in hunting.

Long ago he gave up hunting game with a gun. He prefers a camera and has built a large private collection of wildlife slides which he insures for several thousand dollars.

CLUB LEADER

With these credentials, it follows naturally that Pleau would be active with sportsmen's organizations.

He is one of the founders, and currently president, of the annual Montreal Sportsmen's Show, and vice-president and long-time sparkplug of the successful and vigorous Montreal Anglers and Hunters Club. He frequently lectures on wildlife, using his slides.

A 230-pound six-footer, Ernest Michael Pleau retired last January as deputy-director of the Montreal police department after what he describes as an unspectacular 37-year career. By unspectacular he means that he wasn't wounded, or even shot at.

LIKED OUTDOORS

Pleau, 61, explains that his interest in the outdoors owes nothing to his police work.

"As a young man, I felt some sort of appeal, or calling if you like, to get out into nature. My first experience was with the very amateurish still-fishing (hook and worm). Then I advanced to bait casting and trout fishing in the Laurentian lakes. From there I got into the finer points . . . lighter equipment and things like that."

He got into hunting the same way but abandoned the gun when he discovered there was more challenge stalking game with a camera. Many of his slides represent hours of silent vigil, a keen knowledge of the forest and animal habits.

FAMILY AFFAIR

His wife Yvonne, who died five years ago, shared his love of the outdoors, frequently joining him on expeditions of 15 to 20 days in the bush.

"She could more than hold her own. One thing, she was perhaps a little more patient than I was."

They had no children and Pleau now lives alone in a downtown hotel suite. Born in Montreal, he is perfectly bilingual although he didn't get further than ninth grade. He came up through the ranks on the force and was responsible for 3,000 men when he retired.

CONSERVATION MINDED

"I've found a tremendous enjoyment, and at times a sheer exhilaration, communing with nature," he says. "For a city-bred man like myself, this opened up unforeseen horizons and made me, perhaps, more conscious of the human factor in life."

But although nature taught him tolerance, he still rants at the way man continues to abuse the land.

"Do you know that not so long ago, within the last generation, our resources were considered inexhaustible? But now? Now, everything is changed. In a country like Canada where the population is growing ever so rapidly, man shamelessly pollutes our waters and seems to be happy only when he destroys the habitat of our wildlife. Man poaches without scruples.

If it continues, he says, many species of animal and fish will disappear. "We've got to educate the public about conservation. This is a great challenge and we must all face up to it."

Pleau leaves this month for a six-month trip through Western Canada. "Everybody goes to Europe, to the chateaux of France, to the Vatican. Me, I want to see my country first."

Armed was buried Wednesday at Calumet, under whose banner he earned $817,473 and was honored as Horse of the Year in 1947.

Owners Of Cats Up Pole

By J. C. GRAHAM

Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — Cat owners are bothered and bewildered in Auckland because the two traditional rescuers of pets from poles have bowed out.

The local fire brigade started it by declaring that it would rescue no more cats from on high. Its job was to put out fires, said the fire brigade, and if it was always busy extracting cats from difficulties it could not attend to more urgent business.

OVER TO SPCA

The brigade advised people wanting cats rescued to telephone the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Within a couple of days, the SPCA implored cat lovers not to get in touch with it over cats up poles.

The society said its inspectors were not allowed to climb poles because of danger of electrocution. It had been inundated with calls to rescue cats, said the society, and had been roundly abused for not complying, but the fact was that the law prohibited its men from pole rescues.

It gave one shred of comfort to cat owners, however. The society said it was willing to extract pets from trees and such places.

That left cat owners still seeking a knight errant. The role has been assumed, within defined limits, by the local electric power board and the post office, which controls telephones in New Zealand.

FROM OWN POLES

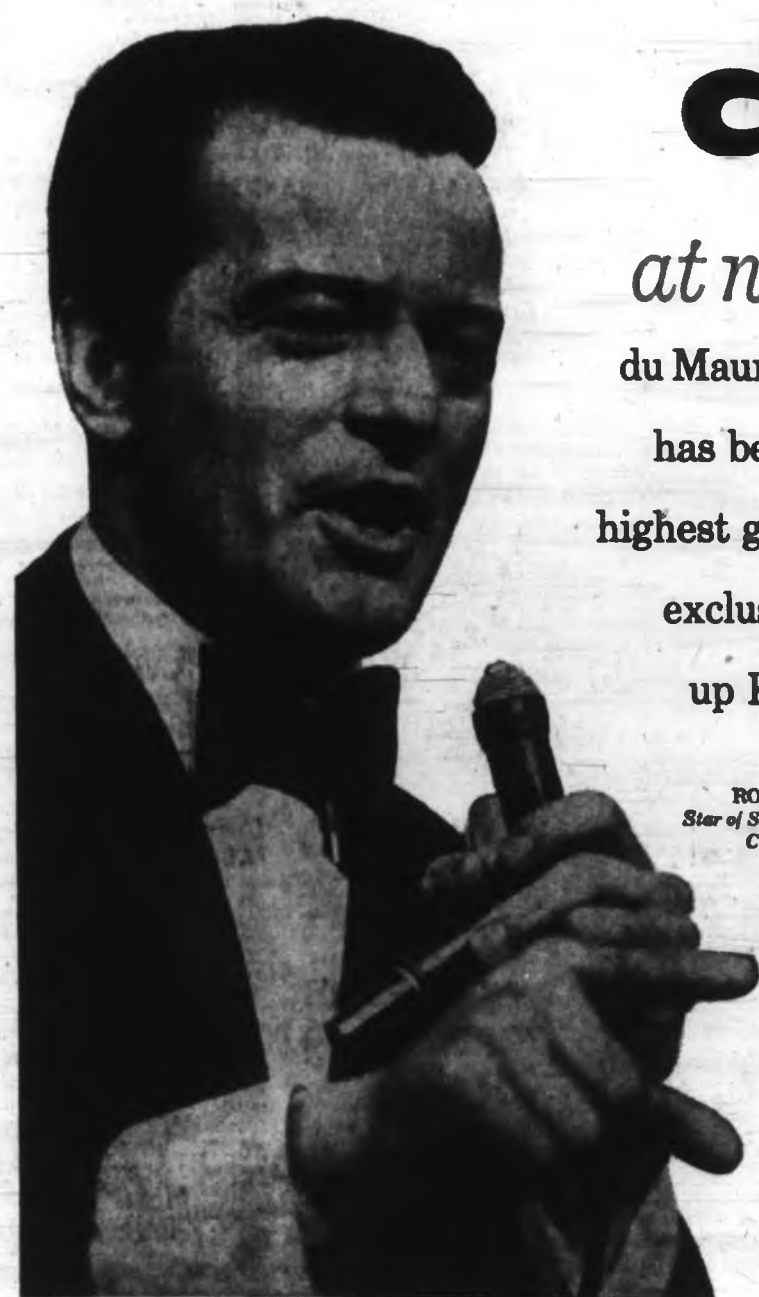

Both say they are willing to get cats down from their own poles, but not from the poles owned by the other organization.

Telephone repair men are not permitted to climb electric power poles and Power Board linesmen are averse to rescuing cats from telephone poles.

The post office says a call will usually bring a telephone repair man to rescue within half an hour—if the pole proves to be a telephone pole.

The Power Board says it is not legally compelled to get cats down from electric power poles, but any such request will be "treated on its merits."

So now all a cat lover in Auckland has to do is to determine whether the thing their pet is clinging to is a dead tree, a power pole or a telephone pole, ring the appropriate rescue agency, hope the diagnosis is correct, and then wait to see if the call is duly treated on its merits.

Russia Boosts Broadcasts

Listen, China!

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In an apparently significant policy move Russia has reduced a large part of its radio broadcasting to the West and diverted it to areas of confrontation with Red China.

Carl T. Rowan, director of the U.S. Information Agency (USIA), who reported this said that beginning May 1 Russia decreased broadcasts in 10 Western languages and stepped up programs to Red China, Mongolia, Korea and India.

Rowan reported that Russian broadcasts in the Dutch language in hours per week are down 33 per cent; in English to Great Britain is down 11 per cent; in Finnish down 30 per cent; French to Europe down 33 per cent; German to Austria down 25 per cent; German to Germany down 17 per cent; Italian down 4 per cent; Swedish down 14 per cent, and English to eastern North America down 22 per cent.

Soviet broadcasts in Mandarin Chinese are up 58 per cent; Mongolian up 40 per cent; Korean up 16 per cent; Hindi, the most widely used language in India, up 11 per cent, and Nepali up 59 per cent.

Russia has also started 30 minutes of daily transmission from Tashkent in the language spoken in the Sinkiang province of China.

Hotel Can Take In Other People's Wash

City finance committee yesterday reversed its stand and decided to take no action against Empress Hotel laundry for taking in "outside" washing.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said any interference by the city in what he termed "a competitive struggle" between local laundries would be outside council's function.

He was absent on vacation when council acting on a previous recommendation from the finance committee, decided to rescind the bylaw which now permits the hotel laundry to take in washing from two outside sources.

Rescinding of the bylaw wouldn't have made the hotel laundry's present operation illegal, but it would have prevented it from entering similar contracts in the future.

"If this becomes an undesirable operation we always have the right at that time to rescind the bylaw," Mayor Wilson said.

"We want the CFR to progress here," he added. "The company has been losing money on both the Empress Hotel and the Crystal Garden. We as a council shouldn't make it more difficult for them to rehabilitate their local operation."

City manager Dennis Young said the hotel laundry was receiving no special concessions on cost of water or taxes.

An application by W. H. Gates, 1837 Fern, for $17.50 in compensation from the city for seven laying hens killed some months ago by a roaming dog was rejected by the committee.

Mr. Young said that under the Municipal Act a municipality is liable for compensation if the dead chickens are presented to the city clerk within 24 hours of the offence.

Mr. Gates was advised to locate the owner of the dog and take him to court.

The city's entertainment committee is looking for a "distinctive, small and inexpensive" memento to give to official visitors to Victoria.

Ald. Austin Curdie, chairman, will look for some Victoria spoons as a gift to the members of the touring Scottish international rugby team due here next week. But a permanent solution to the perennial problem of what to give distinguished visitors will be sought.

Victorians who are going to be out of town next December on civic election day will be able to cast absentee ballots in the city clerk's office on the two days preceding the election.

Mayor R. B. Wilson, who wants to encourage establishment of flower stalls on the Caesway and in such places as the new Centennial Square and Bastion Square, found members of the finance committee generally in favor of the project.

Indians Crash Doors

VANCOUVER (CP)—A band of Thompson Indians wanted to go into the motel business in the high, rugged reaches of the Fraser River Canyon.

Between them and their goal stood legal traps and closed doors.

With adviser Donald Ursaki leading the way around the traps and through the doors, they have in the last 14 years financed and built the $200,000 Sportsman Motel at Spencer Bridge, B.C.

OFFERS HOPE

Ursaki, a former reserve Indian himself, says the recipe offers hope to Indian groups everywhere.

The project faced a traditional difficulty—no starting point for untutored Indians certain to be stung in any assault on the financial world.

MOVES SOUGHT HELP

From his accountancy office in Vernon, B.C., Ursaki was asked for help by the prime movers of the scheme. They included the Walkers—brothers Forrest, 34; William, 50; and Clarence, 39—an agriculture graduate from the university of B.C.—and nephew, Ralph Williams, 35.

Ursaki found these basic problems:

It was impossible under the Indian Act to take Indian land, or assets on this land, as security for loans.

Loans, mortgage and insurance companies refused to provide a mortgage.

The Walkers had come into possession of a motel site when the provincial highways department expropriated other land they owned for a new bridge.

They also had $20,000, in payment by a railway for reserve property that kept sliding onto the tracks.

Ursaki discovered a way around the loan-security problem in the Indian Act through another section that allows a band, on majority vote, to surrender its land by way of a lease to a company. The Indians simply formed a company, Sportsman Holdings Ltd., and surrendered their own land to their corporate selves.

"Our band is probably the first in Canada to actually undertake the surrender of its own land and a major commercial development," Ursaki said.

In trying to raise a mortgage, Ursaki was turned down by the department of Indian affairs and by 20 companies. The Indian af-airs department told Ursaki of $600,000 loaned out to Indians. $300,000 would have to be written off as bad debts.

Ursaki finally found a sympathetic official in the federal government's Industrial Development Bank here. In the meantime he obtained an offer from Shell Oil Company to lend the Indian company money, without security, to build part of the motel and an adjoining service station.

The Indians managed to run their $20,000 to $61,000 with other borrowings and sale of cattle. The development bank put up the rest.

Wrinkle-Removers Given Jar By Food, Drug Investigation

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS

NEW YORK (AP)—A new wrinkle has developed in the wrinkle-removing business.

But the U.S. government has stepped in, and unless things are smoothed out, a potential $100,000,000 market may be in jeopardy.

Ten weeks ago, Helene Curtis Industries, Inc., pioneered a lotion which may, for a few hours, restore youthful smoothness to faces.

Sales sky-rocketed, and other cosmetic firms—Coty, Hazel Bishop, Revlon—quickly prepared their own versions.

Then last week the U.S. Food and Drug Administration seized a batch of Helene

Curtis' product, Magic Secret, in Baltimore, claiming it is a drug instead of a cosmetic and should have had drug clearance. The agency raised no question of health, nor did it ban further sales.

But announcement of the seizure dropped Helene Curtis stock by $3 to $19.75 (its 1964 low) on the New York Stock Exchange that day and, said some New York retailers, sales slumped.

Helene Curtis president, Willard Gidwitz, promptly charged in a statement that the FDA was seeking publicity to further an effort to get tougher controls over cosmetics. (The FDA has jurisdiction only over drugs and food).

Then, in broadcast newspaper ads, he said in effect, that drug or cosmetic, FDA or no, his product was good and people should please keep buying it.

He says shipments are continuing strong and the controversy may by now have given orders a boost.

Makers of these lotions contend that they are not drugs. They describe the chief ingredient as a protein extracted from cow's blood that acts only on the surface of the skin. The lotions therefore differ, they say, from the steroid-hormone creams previously marketed, which are long-term treatments affecting the moisture-retaining capacity of skin cells.

Shares on Sale

Buy Satellite Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communications Satellite Corp. filed with the securities and exchange commission Wednesday a proposed offering of $200,000,000 worth of stock—10,000,000 shares at $20 a share.

About half of the 10,000,000 shares would be reserved for the various communications companies.

Individual purchasers among the public would be limited to 100 shares as an initial purchase.

The corporation, specifically authorized by Congress, plans a global communication system using satellites orbiting the earth as relays.

In the prospectus accompanying the registration statement, the corporation said it plans to launch a satellite in mid-1965 for experiments and limited operations. It estimated the system would be in full operation before late 1967, and said there may be extended delays beyond that date.

Even after full system operations are achieved, the corporation said, there may be no profit for some time.

Cars Will Be Longer, More Powerful in '65

DETROIT (AP)—Small tears are showing up in the veil of secrecy behind which the U.S. auto industry hides its forthcoming 1965 car line.

With sales still running strong and the industry due to build its 6,000,000th car on the 1964-model run Thursday, it is not surprising that auto makers do their best to avoid any premature publicity about their 1965 models.

Activity in more than 125 tool and die shops in the Detroit area reflects the fact that the auto industry will be making the most extensive changes in its car line in over a decade.

Basically, the industry seems to be basing its 1965 plans on a belief that the U.S. buying public wants longer, larger and more powerful cars.

American Motors, chief advocate of the compacts, still feels there is a vast U.S. market for compacts and they will continue to play a big role in AMC's 1965 plans.

In brief, these seem to be the major changes coming in the 65s:

- Larger, more powerful engines.
- More use of disk brakes, in place of the present conventional drum brakes.
- Squarish front ends and more use of fast backs. These represent an unbroken curved line from the top of the car to the rear bumper.
- More use of low-profile tires.

Barefoot Boy
With Cheek

A policeman and a shoeless juvenile's thoughts matched last night to the disadvantage of the 14-year-old Brannan Lake fugitive who police were seeking early yesterday morning.

Playing a hunch, Const. Donald Septa was thinking about British Importers being broken into the night before and decided to check the back door of the store to see if all was well.

He played the torch down the back alley to the Yates Street store and there in the yellow light stood the juvenile at the door of British Importers, the spot where the previous night's entry was gained.

NOWHERE TO GO

The shoeless youth had nowhere to go in the blind alley and gave himself up to the constable. He was taken to the station and charged with breaking and entering and theft.

A second youth was picked up early Thursday morning in connection with breaking and entering the store. Police accused him of wearing clothing from the store and having additional clothing from the store in his possession.

NANAIMO BREAK-IN

The boys escaped from Brannan Lake April 24. They are suspected of breaking into a Nanaimo Sporting Goods Store and stealing knives, axes and a .22 rifle and ammunition.

The boy who was arrested last night was in Brannan Lake on a charge of shooting with intent to wound. The incident occurred with a milkman in Prince George.

Lighted Rock Garden
Centrepiece for Fair

A rock garden 20 feet in diameter with fountains and lights, will be the centrepiece in the Victoria Curling Rink for the Jaycees' annual Victoria Exhibition.

Curling rink and arena exhibition floor space was almost all booked, said Jaycee Frank Kohlman, with just a few spaces left. The fair and exhibition opens Monday.

Shudders at Sentence

Bandit from Montreal
Given 10-Year Term

A heavy-set French-Canadian with a bad case of ulcers shuddered silently yesterday when he was sentenced—in English—to 10 years in prison for armed robbery.

Jean Cheslain Robitaille, 29, of Montreal, was charged after a four-man holdup of the Saanich branch of the Bank of Montreal last month.

Critical Condition

Mother
Hit, Hurled

A 33-year-old mother of three was in critical condition with head injuries at Royal Jubilee Hospital last night after being struck by a car while walking along Cloverdale near Quadra yesterday.

Mrs. Sylvia Jean Bridges, of 3333 Glasgow, was walking on the south side of the road with her five-year-old son, Stephen, when she was hit by a west-bound car and hurled several feet. Her son was unhurt except for bruised knees.

OUT OF CONTROL

Police said the car which was driven by a 17-year-old girl went out of control and crossed the road. It struck Mrs. Bridges and jumped the curb.

Mrs. Bridges was rushed into surgery immediately on arrival in hospital.

Alan Day, a naval civilian fire officer of 1086 Cloverdale, one of the first on the scene said Mrs. Bridges was unconscious and apparently having trouble breathing.

COVERED HER

He cleared her throat of blood and covered her with a blanket until the Saanich fire department arrived.

Mrs. Bridges is the wife of William W. Bridges. The couple's two other children are Lorraine, 14 and Mark, 18 months.

He pleaded guilty earlier and appeared yesterday for sentence. Robitaille, who has had ulcer trouble all week in Saanich cells, answered Magistrate William Oulter through an interpreter.

UNDESTOOD SENTENCE

But he understood the 10-year sentence as soon as it was imposed.

Magistrate Oulter said he had considered whether to impose a whipping as well, as armed robbery could carry corporal punishment as well as prison, but he said higher courts usually ordered the lash only in cases where brutality or personal violence was used in a crime.

DANGEROUS SITUATION

The magistrate said Robitaille's emotional instability and the fact he used drugs made this "an especially dangerous situation in a case of this kind."

Robitaille was one of four men who robbed the bank just before 6 p.m. closing time April 24. They escaped in a rented car and another vehicle waiting at an isolated site.

LOCATED DISGUISES

The men's disguises and pistols were located the following night, partly hidden on Mt. Douglas.

Robitaille was arrested three days later after a man phoned Saanich police and said he was one of the robbers. He said he was in the Strathcona Hotel and said "come and get me."

More than $1,500 of the loot was recovered in Robitaille's room. He was unarmed. Police never did disclose what Robitaille had told them, but said only they had "talked to him."

Pancake Bake

Lions Put Canteen
To Work

Members of South Van Isle Lions' Club are currently at work on a new venture—a 20-foot mobile canteen which they hope will help boost fund-raising campaigns.

It will make its first appearance Sunday when the club throws its annual Mother's Day Pancake Bake from 8:30 a.m. throughout the day at Mattick's Farm, 5325 Cordova Bay.

The Lions are offering all you can eat, at 75 cents for adults and 35 cents for children. Proceeds will go to the Port Alberni Flood Disaster Fund.

There will be free rides for the children and world-champion axe-thrower Hugh McKenzie will give demonstrations. The mobile canteen, which the Lions hope to use on many other efforts, is a travelling restaurant with coffee urns, grills, ovens and sink units.

Flag Raising,
Sailpast
Opens Season

Royal Victoria Yacht Club will inaugurate its 74th season Saturday with a sailpast of nearly 90 boats.

Everything from eight-foot skiffs to 60-foot pleasure cruisers will ply the waters of Cadboro Bay when club commodore F. A. C. Piddington takes the salute.

There will be a flag-raising ceremony on the clubhouse lawn at 2 p.m. Boats will form up at 2:30 p.m. and parade around the harbor. A Messerschmidt will fire the gun for the start of the sailpast at 3 p.m.

Mobile Unit

Solarium Junior League will have its mobile unit at HMC Dockyard on Saturday, Navy Day, for the purpose of selling hot dogs, drinks, ice cream, etc.

New Court Committee

'No Duties at All'

By IAN STREET

The newly-created Greater Victoria family and juvenile court committee has been given "no duties at all," Ald. Lily Wilson said yesterday.

She told the city's health and welfare committee that the intermunicipal group wrote to the government asking what its duties were.

"The reply was almost an insult," said Ald. Wilson. "We're not there to do anything. At our Wednesday meeting the consensus was that we might as well retire for all the good we can do."

New legislation passed in 1963 covering family and juvenile court operation requires municipalities to appoint a committee to work with the court.

EASE BURDEN

It appears, however, that the government's intention was to create local organizations that would assume some of the duties of the family and children's service where none existed before.

This leaves the Greater Victoria committee with little or nothing to do, since we have a family and children's service and community welfare council.

GOOD IDEA

Nevertheless, said Mayor R. B. Wilson, "this new committee sounds like a good idea."

"We should try operating on the present limited basis for one year and then perhaps recommend some changes to the attorney-general's department." This stand was supported by Ald. Wilson, who said the committee would continue "to do what we think is right and to find out what we want to know until someone tells us to stop."

PROBE BUDGET

She added: "One thing we are going to look into is this matter of the budget."

City council last week approved the 1964 budget for operation of the family and juvenile court which amounted to $47,400. This is an increase of $11,642 over actual expenditure in 1963.

Under existing legislation the government has the right to appoint probation officers and the municipalities must meet the full cost.

CITY PAYMASTER

Victoria has been designated by order-in-council as the paymaster of the Greater Victoria court which for the first time this year includes Esquimalt, as well as Saanich and Oak Bay.

Ald. Wilson said the intermunicipal committee has approved plans for conversion of the former juvenile detention home on Coldharbour Road into a temporary home for the family court which is now located in a basement.

Albert Head

Residents
Keep Eye
On Future

About 60 residents in the Albert Head district have formed their own ratepayers' association — to protect the future development of their community.

This was announced yesterday by Jim Buchanan, 3828 Duke Road, who has been elected chairman of the association's management committee.

"We want to find out if people in our district want to remain independent, or join with Langford and Colwood if and when any amalgamation takes place," said Mr. Buchanan last night.

He added: "In any case, we felt it was time we joined together to protect the interests of our district for the future. I think the general feeling is that people want to see our area developed residentially, but I don't think they want to become a municipality."

"At the same time, we don't want to become the backyard of Langford and Colwood and have to carry all their light industry."

At a meeting Wednesday night in St. Mary's Parish Hall, Metohousin, Mrs. A. W. J. Murray, 3702 Duke, was elected secretary, and Ronald Jones, 3837 Duke, R. L. Roach, 3958 Olympic View Drive, and Gordon Argall, 3825 Duke, committee members.

Two girls from the University of Victoria will spend their summer gathering specimens of Vancouver Island's plant life for the university's botany department.

There was a time when flower pressing was a hobby of delicate, Victorian-era misses, but that drawing-room pastime is a far cry from outdoors expedition to be undertaken by these two vigorous students, Joan Hett, 3084 Jacklin, and Wendy Armstrong, 1146 Richardson.

TRAVEL NORTH

They'll travel north early next week to Port Hardy in a rented truck, taking with them two tents, one a base camp and the other a tiny fly tent which can be packed into the bush for side trips.

They'll take a small cartop boat along for use on lakes, cooking and sleeping equipment, a specimen press and a small camp heater to dry out specimens.

TWO-WEEK JAUNT

Field trips will last two weeks and will include west coast and Gulf Island points.

The girls are employed by the university to help build up a base collection for the botany department which already has 3,000 specimens.

With the rapid expansion of cities and industries, scientists want to learn as much as they can about wild land while there is still some left.

This is important for the future because knowledge of plants in forest lands discloses many things about the land, climate and geology.

This summer two scientists from the Central Experimental Farm in Ottawa, Dr. Larry Sherk and Jim Calder, are coming to the Island to study ferns, orchids and some types of violets.

Miss Hett and Miss Armstrong will aid them by noting areas where such plants are found. Miss Hett, a science student in her final year, is making her second expedition and after graduation will continue her studies in Wisconsin under a National Research Council grant.

Miss Armstrong, a third year science student, is making her first field trips.

Checking equipment before setting out on field trip collecting specimens of Vancouver Island's plant life are University of Victoria students Wendy Armstrong and Joan Hett. Tent provides base camp. Students demonstrate botanical press which they will use to store their finds.—(Bud Kinsman)

She's Too Late
For the Beer

A Victoria housewife found a 25-cent bar token in her garden the other day; trouble is, she's just about 47 years too late to cash it in.

Mrs. Gerald Laycock, 1137 Princess, was doing some hoeing in her vegetable garden when she thought she saw a quarter among the dirt clods.

It turned out to be a round metal slug slightly larger than a quarter with the words "Good for 25c in Trade" on one side and "Empire Bar, Victoria," on the other.

The token was a rusty dark brown but Mr. Laycock polished until it was a silver color. Further cleaning revealed a dull gilt finish.

The Empire Hotel and restaurant were at 546-8 Johnson, which was then between Government and Broad. They are listed at that address in the 1917 city directory and presumably served spirits until prohibition came in. It is thought the tokens were used as advertising or perhaps were sold like milk tickets or bus tokens.

At any rate there's little hope at this late date of using it to buy five nickel glasses of beer.

Giant Party
Planned
In Oak Bay

A giant, two-day beach party, highlighted by Oak Bay High School 20th anniversary reunion, is being planned by Oak Bay community celebrations committee.

The party, to be held at Willows Beach June 5 and 6, will have rides for children and a midway at Willows Park, where a tea party will be held.

There will be a display of water skiing by Victoria Aqua Ski Club, a display and regatta by the Inboard-Outboard Club, and the annual swim from Mary Tod Island to a finish line on the beach.

On the second day graduates of 1944 from Oak Bay High will meet to discuss and recall their school days, and enjoy the tea party.

Girl Guide Honored

At a ceremonial held recently by the First Langford Guide Company, Angela Adamek was presented with the Royal Canadian Legion, Prince Edward Branch No. 91 Ladies' Auxiliary Cup for all-round Guide of the year.

The presentation was made by the auxiliary's first vice-president, Mrs. D. Smith.

Mary Cooper and Susan Cottle received a compass and a book for outstanding progress in Guide work.

Special guests, introduced by the captain, Mrs. P. Donaldson, were Mrs. Smith, Mrs. A. M. Thomas and Mrs. C. Dineah, divisional commissioners of the Juan de Fuca and Lakes District; Mrs. A. G. Atkins, Guide from India; Mrs. B. Campbell, Mrs. H. Patterson, Mrs. H. Townsend and Mrs. W. Clavette, leaders of 1st Colwood and 2nd Langford Companies; Mrs. M. E. Tawney and Mrs. D. Hamilton, former Langford Company captains.

Mrs. Dineah presented second class badges to Mary Cooper, Bridget Watt, Darlene Margulish, Patsy Anderson, Gayle Bennett, Colleen Alder, Kathy Cottle and Marilyn Gehring. Mrs. Thomas presented hostess badges to Gayle Bennett, Mary Cooper, Patsy Anderson, Colleen Alder, Kathy Cottle, Marilyn Gehring and Susan Cottle; needlewomen badges to Ellen Guttormsen, Mary Cooper, Susan Cottle, Colleen Alder, Marilyn Gehring, Susan McCulloch and Angela Adamek.

Child care badges were given to Mary Cooper, Susan McCulloch, Colleen Alder, Susan Cottle and Angela Adamek; home-maker badges to Mary Cooper, Angela Adamek, Susan McCulloch, Susan Cottle and Colleen Alder; laundress badge to Mary Cooper; emergency helper and handywoman badge to Felicity Smythe; little house emblems to Ellen Guttormsen, Susan Cottle, Susan McCulloch and Angela Adamek.

The Company Lieutenant, Mrs. V. Court, presented Felicity Smythe with her fourth year service star, and Ellen Guttormsen with her third year star. First year stars went to Patsy Anderson, Angela Adamek, Bridget Watt, Colleen Alder, Susan Cottle and Kathy Cottle.

Campfire and taps concluded the program. Refreshments were served by Mrs. B. Sole.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Stanforth, 3199 Aldridge Street, announce the forthcoming marriage of their younger daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to Mr. Henry Charles Clarke Silvester, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Silvester, 182 Belmont Road. The wedding will take place on Saturday, May 30, at 2 p.m. in All Saints Church, View Royal, with Rev. John Vickers officiating.

Honeymoon in Banff

White carnations, snapdragons, tulips and beauty branches decorated St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church in Sidney for the marriage of Patricia Joyce Bradley and Mr. Edward Roy (Ted) Tuttle.

Rev. Father William Judge performed the double-ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bradley, 5490 Alderly Road, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Tuttle, 9502 West Saanich Road, Sidney.

The bride's twin niece and nephew, little Rhonda and Bradley du Temple, acted as her flower girl and ring bearer.

The raven-haired bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of imported French nylon velvet. It's empire-lined bodice was styled with short bouffant sleeves and enhanced with Gulpure lace and crystal teardrops. A full velvet panel extended from waistline into a slight train. A matching velvet pillbox edged in lace and crystal teardrops held the chapel-length veil of tiered nylon tulle. Mauve carnations were in her bouquet.

Floor-length bell-skirted gowns of mauve brocade with matching headpieces were worn by matron of honor, Mrs. Yvonne Bamford, sister of the bride; bridesmaid, Mrs. Bonnie Burrows, and junior attendant, Miss Sandra Bradley, another sister. All wore culture pearl necklaces, gifts of the bride, and carried nosegays of white blossoms.

The petite flower girl wore a full-skirted, floor-length gown of white nylon and a halo of mauve and white flowers in her hair. She carried a basket of mauve flowers and wore an engraved cross, gift of the bride.

A white satin shirt and white serge pants were worn by the ring bearer.

Mr. Lee Crampton was best man and ushers were Cliff Burrows, Ricky Tuttle, Ron du Temple and Don Norbury.

Major L. Seardfield proposed the toast at a reception in Sanscha Hall at Sidney. A three-tier wedding cake surrounded by tulle and mauve and yellow candles centred the bride's table.

Following a honeymoon trip to Banff, the newlyweds will Study Parliament

The Arbutus Toastmistress Club recently sponsored a full day session of study in parliamentary procedure with Mrs. Alma M. Thompson, registered parliamentarian as instructor.

Mrs. Thompson has taught parliamentary law in the Seattle and Montana public schools as well as teaching many private classes and clubs. She is vice-president of the Washington State National Association of Parliamentarians.

The course covered motions, amendments, by-laws, elections and duties of officers followed by a lively question period.

The session was attended by Toastmistress members from Victoria, Chetumal and Ladysmith and was so successful that further sessions are being planned. These courses may be made available to the general public, men as well as women, if facilities allow and if there is enough interest.

Information on this subject may be obtained by phoning Mrs. R. S. Butt at EV 2-6063 any evening.

Heirloom Pin Worn by Bride

A gold pin that has been in the groom's family for over 100 years was "something old" worn by Jo-Anne Dunn when she exchanged marriage vows with William John Bates.

She was given in marriage by her father. Her white peau de soie gown featured a panelled skirt that extended into a train. Sleeves ended in lily points. The chapel-length veil misted from a coronet of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of Eucharis lilies and gladioli.

Rev. R. J. Love officiated at the double-ring ceremony in Como Lake United Church, Coquitlam, that united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dunn of Port Coquitlam, and the son of Capt. and Mrs. A. A. Bates of Victoria.

Turquoise peau de soie gowns were choice of maid of honor, Miss Betty Hough, and bridesmaid, Miss Honey Howes. Another bridesmaid, Miss Marilyn Bates, sister of the groom, was gowned in pink peau de soie. All carried shower bouquets of white daisies and ivy.

Ellis Mead was best man and guests were ushered to their pews by Ray Whitehead and John Cooper. Ricky and Jim Scott acted as pages.

Peter Hewitt proposed the toast at a reception in the Golden Chalice. The lace-covered head table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake. Congratulatory telegrams were received from Aden, Egypt and from Victoria. Miss Carolyn Jensen was in charge of the register. For travelling on a honeymoon trip to Seattle, the bride donned a pale blue poodle cloth dress with white accessories. The couple is now making their home at 1821 Barclay Street, Vancouver.

St. Ann's Fair

It was truly family day at St. Ann's Academy where a Carnival and Fair, sponsored by the Sisters of St. Ann's and the Parents' Association, attracted young and old throughout the day.

The successful affair was opened by Sister Superior, who was presented with a bouquet of red roses by Beverly Griffin. Students from Grade 5, under direction of Sister Mary Germain, sang Come to the Fair, followed by Rose Marie Medland presenting Sister Superior with the scissors to cut the ceremonial ribbon.

Mrs. S. Haynes was general convener with Mrs. G. Paterson as her co-convener.

Yellow candles and spring flowers, in school colors of blue and yellow, decorated the head table at which were seated His Excellency Bishop de Roo, Sister Mary Monina, Superior of St. Ann's Academy; Mrs. Haynes, Mrs. Paterson, Mr. J. Rey, president of Parents' Association, and Mrs. Rey. Mrs. F. Griffin was tea convener and the students' fathers poured tea.

Stall conveners were Mrs. R. E. Coleman, aprons; Mrs. F. J. Kitson, hat bar; Mrs. B. Barry, delicatessen; Mrs. J. Allison and Mrs. J. White, home cooking; Mrs. F. Christian, lucky seven; Mrs. R. Desilet, novelties; Mrs. S. Janis, candy; Mrs. L. Hohner, fancy work; Sister Mary Thomas Moore, plants; Sisters of St. Ann's, religious articles; Mrs. W. Brown, doll clothes; Mrs. B. Webb, groceries, and Mr. J. Griffin, games.

A penny carnival kept the children busy during the afternoon and an auction, handled by Mr. A. Ritz, rounded out the evening.

ANN LANDERS

Ann, Honey: We read your great little column every day, Doll, and we believe your advice is generally sound, often helpful, and sometimes, Cupcake, it is downright hilarious.

However, Toots, your adorable little cutesy-wooties names for those who write to you are a bit much.

So, Babe, will you kindly cut out the chummy little handles? The Buddy-Boy approach to a person who may be twice your age detracts from your otherwise sensible writing—and you should know it, Sweetie.

We sincerely hope you will accept this criticism in the spirit of friendship, since this is the way it is intended, Buttercup—SUGAR AND SPICE.

Dear S and S: Thanks, I'll watch it, Lambie Pie.

Dear Ann Landers: Can you settle an argument I have been having with my wife?

She has asked me to hand over the names of the manufacturers with whom I do business. (I am purchasing agent of a fairly large company.) She wants to write letters to these suppliers asking for donations to her pet charity—which by the way, is a worthy one.

I feel that these solicitations would be improper. She claims all the other wives do it, and if she doesn't get money out of these manufacturers for her charity, some other wives will get it for their charity.

What is your opinion? — CHICAGO V. P.

Dear Veep: Your wife is going to hate me, but I agree with you.

Following a honeymoon trip to the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Courtney Edward Loggin are now making their home at Sidney.

Bishop D. A. G. Rankin officiated at the ceremony in the Church of Our Lord which united Gladys Eileen Newell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan L. Newell, 966 Taster Drive, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Loggin, 576 Hestherly Road. Daffodils and greenery decorated the church.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her floor-length gown of white nylon tulle over taffeta was styled with a fitted bodice, lily point sleeves and sweetheart neckline, enhanced with Alencon lace and shimmering paillettes. Inverted pleats gave graceful fullness to the skirt that swept back to a train. A fabric bow was highlighted at back waistline.

The bouffant nylon tulle veil misted from a double coronet of Alencon lace and seed pearls. Tallman roses, white carnations and lily were in the bouquet. Only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom.

Only attendant was Miss Diane Beebe. She wore a waist-length gown of coral taffeta, accented with toning organza overskirt, and a matching whale. Her bouquet was white and coral carnations.

Roger Loggin was best man for his brother and guests were ushered to pews by Denise Richards.

Clifford Fetterly proposed the toast to his niece at a reception in the Colony Motor Hotel. White candles, carnations and greenery flanked a three-tier wedding cake on the head table.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. E. M. Fetterly came from Neepawa, Man., for the wedding. Other out-of-town guests were Mrs. G. Robertson, Lady Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Donay of Cloverdale.

As her going-away outfit the bride chose a two-piece suit in olive shade, beige accessories and corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

Coffee Party

Pendray Hall was filled with spring flowers when the UCW held their second annual coffee party. Mrs. F. E. H. James opened the affair.

Receiving guests were Mrs. T. Sewell, president; Rev. E. Laura Butler, Mrs. John Garden and Mrs. D. Bennett. The homebaking sale was well attended. Proceeds from the morning affair totaled $300.

Use the Naran Plan to Lose Ugly Fat

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoonsful a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly boat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Tax Cut for Trigger Mike

MIAMI, Fla. — The U.S. government settled its $966,193 income tax claim against Michael (Trigger Mike) Coppola for $400,000.

The 51-year-old Coppola, who was identified by gangster Joseph Valachi, in U.S. Senate hearings as a crew chief in the Cosa Nostra crime syndicate, will pay $266,696, for income taxes due and $139,533 penalties.

BOSTON, Mass. — State At-torney General Edward W. Brooke, questioned on news-tions as everybody.

Names In the News

PRINCE GEORGE — Greater Kluks, of Dawson Creek, was found not guilty of capital murder by reason of insanity in the shooting of his wife, Margaret, 32, last Feb. 6. The trial took only three hours. Both prosecution and defence counsel sought the verdict.

MOSCOW — Russia has officially "rehabilitated" Boris Filayak, prominent Soviet novelist shot in the mid-1930s as an "enemy of the people" after he wrote a novel hunting Stalin ordered a major surgical operation which led to the death of famed war commissar Mikhail Frunze.

... I'm a taxpayer

MOOSE JAW — Henry Sheldene, of Saskatoon, who lives with his daughter, Mrs. A. M. Popham, here, celebrated his 105th birthday. Asked "how does it feel to be 105?" he has this retort: "What do you care? You'll never make it." He exercises "by walking to and from the TV set" and takes his daughter out to dinner at least once a week. His one ambition: to win an Irish sweep.

NEW YORK — The Duke and Duchess of Windsor paid their first visit to the world's fair and found it "ripping" and "magnificent."

LOS ANGELES — Annemarie Loe, 37, who had filed suit for divorce from actor Peter Loe prior to his death in March, was appointed administratrix of her husband's $13,000 estate.

HERRIN, Ill. — When Mrs. Robert Dirks heard a loud noise overhead, she dismissed it as just another sonic boom from low-flying aircraft. Then neighbors told her a one-ton limb from a giant oak tree had crashed through her roof.

HILLSIDE, N.J. — A policeman rushed up with a first aid kit when Edward Dumphy, 55, of New York, emerged from his overturned bakery truck with his face covered with what appeared to be blood. But Dumphy was just licking strawberry and cherry pie filling from his lips.

LIVERPOOL, England — Police picked up two suspicious looking characters and questioned them about a holdup. The suspects turned out to be members of a long-haired Liverpool beat group, the Merseybeats, on their way to a television studio. "With our hair, I guess we do look a bit suspicious," said Johnny Gustafson.

HOLLYWOOD — Joseph Maini Jr., 32, nationally-known jazz saxophonist and recording artist, was listed as in critical condition at County General Hospital from an accidentally-inflicted gunshot wound in the head. He got the wound while "playing with a gun" at the home of a friend, Raymond Graziano.

HALIFAX — Band leader Don Messer, 55, is recovering from a slight heart attack and will limit his public appearances this summer. It was learned here.

SANTIAGO, Chile — Jose Maza, 74, president of the UN General Assembly from 1955 to 1956 died here. Maza, a lawyer and diplomat, was co-author of Chile's constitution.

LONDON — Miss Barbara Fell, 35, top civil servant in Britain's central office of information who was jailed for two years in 1962 for passing information to her Yugoslav diplomat lover, has been released from prison.

NEW YORK — Francis Cardinal Spellman has given $75,000—$1,000 for each year of his life—as a personal gift to Pope Paul VI to mark the passing of a double milestone, his 75th birthday and the 25th anniversary of his becoming Roman Catholic archbishop of New York.

Is "slow" gin sloe gin?

No.

On the contrary. Though they sound alike, they're poles apart.

Sloe Gin—flavoured with sloes—is sweetish and aromatic. Our "slow" gin—Burnett's Sterling—is a juniper gin; a London Dry Gin. With the emphasis very much on dry.

Why do we call it a "slow" gin? Because it's made slowly—the old-world way. In small, unburied batches.

The whole process is rather like home cooking. Watching, sniffing, tasting, we hover over Sterling's distillation. What sets the slow pace is our little English Pot Stills. Like the one you see on the right.

These seasoned old-timers are more than 100 years old. We brought them from England in the 1920s—when we imported Burnett's complete distillery.

Compared with today's huge, automatic stills, our old copper Pot Stills are miniatures — and slowpokes. In the time they take to make one gallon of gin, some of their modern counterparts are mass-producing ten.

We'd save money by switching to such masters. But our Burnett's Sterling would no longer be a "slow" gin. And it wouldn't taste the same.

Getting There's the Trick

By ALEXANDER FARRELL
MONTREAL (CP)—In Montreal, one of the world's great transportation centres, transportation remains one of the main problems to be licked before the 1967 world's fair.

Keynoter
Milo F. Dean, of Great Falls, Mont., keynote speaker at 18th annual meeting of western section, Medical Group Management Association, to begin Sunday at the Empress Hotel. Mr. Dean, past president of the association, is among several speakers at the three-day meeting of medical groups of western Canada and U.S.

Third in Month FBI Finds Body Of Child

HILLSVILLE, Va. (AP)—FBI agents, following a trail from Massachusetts to Georgia through an ex-convict's use of stolen credit cards, have found the body of a missing eight-year-old New Jersey boy—the third such discovery in little more than a month.

Use of a credit card at a nearby service station led the FBI Wednesday to the location in mountainous terrain of a body they identified as that of David Wulff, missing since he left his home April 1 in Wallingboro, N.J., to attend a school function.

CAUSE OF DEATH
While medical authorities checked for the cause of the boy's death, police sought to link in with Joseph Francis Bryan Jr., 25, of Audubon, N.J., already in custody in Sumter, S.C., on charges of kidnapping two other boys.

DISCOVER BODY
The body of young Robinson, who disappeared from his home Feb. 27, was found March 31 in a shallow grave near Hallandale, Fla. The Burke boy had not been harmed when he was found with Bryan at the time of his arrest. Dennis had been missing from his home for four days.

St. Petersburg, Fla., authorities have sought to link Bryan also with the March 23 disappearance there of Lewis Hackie Wilson, 7. The child's body was found last Thursday in a palmetto grove at Venice, Fla., near a spot the FBI has learned Bryan got stuck in the sand.

Ex-Victorian Dies at 65 In Portland
A former Victoria resident, Arthur Harris, 65, died in hospital in Portland, Ore. Monday.

Mr. Harris, who was born, raised and educated in Victoria, went to Portland nine years ago as an engineer for the Kaiser company.

He is survived by his widow, Doris, and three daughters, Mrs. Ron Robertson (Marguerite) in Texas; Mrs. Leo Elias (Shirley), Bremerton; Mrs. Al Tutt, (Linda) in Seattle, and five grandchildren.

Also surviving are his father, Seymour Harris; a sister, Mrs. Olive Southall, and two brothers, Clifford and Henry, all of Victoria.

Services were conducted in Portland yesterday.

superhighways another bridge or two and a monorail system are all that are needed to solve the problem of access to the fair "ground and circulation around their 600 acres.

As a matter of fact, all these things are planned in time for the fair. But, with opening day, April 28, 1967, barely 1,000 days away, most of them are scarcely off the drawing boards.

TENDERS NEXT WEEK
Tenders for the first section of the three-mile subway line under the river linking downtown Montreal with the fair grounds and the south shore will be called next week.

Lucien L'Allier, city public works director, said actual construction should begin in June and the line is to be finished by March 1967.

UNVEIL PLAN
The Quebec roads department recently unveiled a master plan designed to make the province's highway network the equal of those in New York and Ontario in the next 10 years but right now it is concentrating on jobs that can be finished by 1967.

Top priority has been given to the Eastern Townships autoroute—and a freeway between Montreal and New York State, both connecting with United States interstate highways. The autoroute is nearly half finished, the freeway not yet started.

ATTENDANCE ESTIMATES
Nobody is sure how many people will come to the fair. Estimates have ranged between 20,000,000 and 50,000,000. But everybody is sure most of them will have to come from the U.S. If the fair is to succeed.

EIGHT PLAN EXHIBITS
Eight nations have so far announced their intention to participate in the fair of which one, West Germany, has said it will do so on a lavish scale. The others are Belgium, The Netherlands, France, Britain, Austria, India and Morocco.

Delegations from Japan and Russia visited the site recently.

FRENCH EXHIBIT
Besides the national pavilions, there will also be exhibits by the city of Paris, all or most of Canada's provinces, and various Canadian industries.

Commissioner-General Pierre Dupuy is also trying to enlist the support of Russia and the Scandinavian countries for a joint Arctic pavilion with Canada.

A man who makes a travel movie of hostile Indians and takes his life in his hands to do it, doesn't get one cent more for it than he would for a film of peaceful Victoria.

Aubert Lavastida has come to this conclusion after making nine travel films in 17 years, besides acting as director for the motion picture studio at the University of Michigan.

What's more, there is likely to be more demand for the film about Victoria than the Indian film.

ADULT EDUCATION
He's in Victoria today and Saturday for evening showings of his South Sea Sojourn, part of the adult education series, The World Around Us.

Mr. Lavastida met his wife, who is now his partner and still photographer in his adventure film business, when he was in Colombia, South America.

She is the daughter of a famous Colombian travel writer. Mr. and Mrs. Lavastida made the only overland crossing of South America, travelling from Beaufort on the Pacific Coast to Georgetown, British Guiana.

Lavastida

The second problem is modesty. It's the practice of many tribes which Mr. Lavastida has photographed to show a good deal of their bodies, and this won't do for community groups.

Frequently his agent, when seeking bookings gets a list of stipulations, such as no bare breasts, no undue nudity.

DOESN'T MATTER
It doesn't matter if a South American native has never worn a thread of cloth above her waist in her life. If she wants to be seen on film by a North American audience, she must put something on.

This attitude amazes Mr. Lavastida, who was once told by a woman editor in New York, "I am the most sophisticated woman in this city, but the sight of a bare breast shocks me."

The matter of interpretation once had Mr. Lavastida kept out of television for a number of years.

GREAT AUDIENCE
His friend at a Detroit TV studio with a great viewing audience, asked about the nudity in his scheduled travel film.

Mr. Lavastida replied that it just showed "young girls." To the TV executive a young girl is one of about eight or nine.

When the film started and Mr. Lavastida's version of young girls appeared—"any lady who's young and active"—the people in the studio were horrified.

South Sea Sojourn will be screened tonight and Saturday at 8 p.m. in Oak Bay Junior High auditorium.

TWO PROBLEMS
This trip provided a number of exciting films but they presented two problems.

In the first place, exhibitors such as community groups, hesitate to take such films, and if given a choice between a jungle adventure and a tour of, say, Paris, they would choose Paris.

But the audience, says Mr. Lavastida, prefers the jungle film.

Requiem
Choral Group At Peak

Wednesday evening at Christ Church Cathedral a large appreciative audience heard Mozart's Requiem sung in Latin by the Victoria Choral Society.

Victoria's gifted young conductor, Rodney Webster, who has led the society for four years in several of the greater oratorios, was at his best in guiding the choir from the gentle sotto voce to the sudden breathtaking crescendo passages of this moving work.

Soloists beautifully blending in the quartet work here were Pamela Paver, soprano; Eleanor Ashford, contralto; Derek MacDevon, baritone; and Gerard O'Connell, tenor, who made his Victoria debut, and who recently took leadership of St. Andrew's Cathedral Choir.

Mozart's motet, Laudate Dominum, was sung by Bill Dyson, boy soprano, who exquisitely performed the solo. The Gloria from the 12th mass, sung in English, brought the concert to a thrilling conclusion.

This program was also successfully performed in St. Andrew's Cathedral, Tuesday evening.

Samarkand Safe Now
MOSCOW (UPI) — The "golden city" of Samarkand and the lush cotton fields above it have been saved from the flood that once threatened to wash them away, Tass said Wednesday.
The Soviet news agency said Soviet engineers have won their fight to dredge a new channel for the Zeravshan River, which was dammed by a huge landslide.

Garden Notes

Plan Now for 1965

By M. V. CHESNUT

A good gardener gets the habit of thinking at least a year ahead as he plans his garden chores, and quite a few of the odd jobs around the garden at this time of the year are of this nature. They are concerned with next year's display rather than what happens this summer.

One of these next-year jobs is the sowing of seeds of wallflowers and Sweet Williams. Many of the garden books advocate midsummer sowing of these seeds for flowering next spring, and this is perhaps good advice where the soil is very fertile, as spring-sown plants may grow too big and lush to go through the winter safely. My soil is none too good, though, and I find I get better results from sowings made as soon as the more urgent spring chores are out of the way.

If you have any spare room in a coldframe, this is a good place to start the seeds of biennial and perennial flowers. Personally, I use a small raised seed bed tucked away in a sunny corner of our backyard, sheltered from the wind. The seedlings are transplanted later to a row in the vegetable plot where they can be given routine cultivation, along with the carrots and peas, until the plants make their final move in the fall to their flowering positions out front.

In handling wallflowers, it is wise to keep in mind that these plants are closely related to the cabbage, and suffer from some of the same ailments. They can get club root just as easily as sprouts or cabbages, especially on wet soils inclined to acidity, so both their seed bed and their summer quarters should be given a generous dressing of hydrated lime, about one cupful per square yard, just scratched into the surface.

Another next-year job is the care of spring-flowering bulbs after they pass out of bloom. This is a very important time in their life-cycle, with the foliage working overtime to build up depleted food reserves in the bulb. These bulb plants are concentrating all their energies right now upon the production of next year's flowers, and it is up to us to give them the materials and conditions to do a good job. Stir and loosen the soil surface in the bulb beds and treat the plants to a square meal in the form of soluble fertilizer in water. Do not use a high-nitrogen lawn fertilizer on bulbs, as such formulas favor leaf growth at the expense of flowering and could interfere with the proper ripening of foliage and bulb. My own preference is for liquid seaweed or liquid fish in water. After feeding, mulch the bulb beds lightly with peat or compost or very old rotted manure—spent mushroom compost is especially good.

Many gardeners of my acquaintance have the idea that no more water should be given the bulbs after the flowers finish. "Give 'em a good baking in the sun," they say, and this is true, but their timing is a way off base.

The bulbs need dryish conditions for their ripening period, but they should be allowed to pick their own time for this. Just after blooming they will need water, and plenty of it, and the soil should never be allowed to dry out until the foliage starts to die down of its own accord. It is especially important in the case of hyacinths not to dry them off prematurely.

It Let in Fresh Air, Says JOHN CROSBY

Satire Craze Runs Course

LONDON—Life magazine has published a diatribe by John Gregory Dunne (I somehow distrust that by-line) savagely attacking Britain's young satirists—That Was the Week That Was, Beyond the Fringe, and the rest—and advised them all to go home.

A bit late, that advice. They're all back here and the satire craze which swept England for a couple of years is as dead as yesterday's newspaper.

Peter Cook, one of the four performers, and co-author of Beyond the Fringe, the little revue which started the whole thing and which is still running in New York and London, said to me the other day:

"The idea that the country was deluged with satire was never really true. At its height, there was only one satirical magazine, Private Eye (which he owns) 'one satirical nightclub, The Establishment' (he was co-owner of that, too) 'one TV program, TW3, and one show, Beyond the Fringe.'"

Except for Beyond the Fringe, they're all gone or changed or in deep trouble. TW3 has vanished from British television and is not doing well on American television. Private Eye's circulation has plummeted from 150,000 to 55,000. The Establishment has got respectable.

While the satire craze was always a small, fringe movement, it occupied a disproportionate share of the national newspapers and for a while it was almost the only topic of conversation at the dinner table.

"To say that the satire movement is dead," says Cook, "is like saying singing is over or swimming is out. I think people wrote what needed saying at the moment. The time was right. People will continue to write some satire. But the words become debased."

Another of the Beyond the Fringe writers and performers, Jonathan Miller, has even stronger feelings about what he calls the satire industry.

"The word satire has been devalued. By its nature satire is discriminating. So much of the satire boom was irresponsible, not motivated by any genuine passion. I disapprove of indiscriminate mockery, of opportunist nihilism."

Harsh words but all true. Life's bitter attack contained some very accurate observations about the superficiality and shoddiness and lack of integrity of much of the satire.

But in this currently fashionable dispraise (and there's been a lot of the same here) no one seems to remember that a lot of the satire was truly marvelous and, I think, genuinely therapeutic.

The important thing about the satire craze was that it happened at all and was permitted to run its course. The young in England suddenly had an urge to attack the barricades of stuffiness and sham. The rest of England, who weren't quite in the mood to throw rocks, certainly were in the mood to watch and to applaud.

The young satirists were given their heads. There is a lot of grumbling now that TW3 was killed by the establishment it mocked. That's not true. TW3 ran itself into the ground. Private Eye has no one but itself to blame for its dwindling circulation. The wave of mockery was never suppressed. It just ran out of gas.

The United States had its own waves of satire about five years earlier with Mort Sahl leading a parade of comics, but it never really got out of the nightclubs. When it got into the mass media, television, magazines, and movies, it was censored and throttled. TW3 in the United States has never been permitted anything like the freedom it enjoyed here.

Well, the whole thing has passed now, but I think a lot of fresh air was let in. Simply because TW3 spoke so freely on the air we all speak a little more freely in the livingroom.

Private Eye wrote such outrageous things that everyone's inhibitions loosened a bit.

That's the whole point of satire anyway—to say about what we've all been thinking secretly but didn't quite dare say.

SHEILAH GRAHAM

NEW YORK (NANA) — Maria Fisher, the little German girl adopted by Elizabeth Taylor and Eddie Fisher, was flown in unexpectedly to New York, and there she was sitting on Richard Burton's lap at Sardi's restaurant during the matinee and evening show of Hamlet. For once Richard was minus Elizabeth. His early dinner companions were Josephine Premice and her handsome son, and actor-director Mike Nichols. I had eyes only for the children, even when I shook Richard's hand. And it was wonderful to see Maria running off with the secretary who had brought her. She was a cripple at birth.

Took a friend to a matinee of Any Wednesday. One of the five producers, Edward Speyer, told me they had refused $500,000 for the film rights. "Our price is $750,000." And this play was going begging in Hollywood last year with an asking price of $67,000—the sum needed to get the smash hit on the road.

Arlene Dahl, all over the night clubs and theatres in New York, is listening to an offer to co-star with Robert Preston in Benjamin Franklin in Paris... the arrival of the baby expected by the Forrest Tuckers was planned almost to the day. "We decided," Forrest told me, "to wait three years so that we could enjoy life together without the responsibility of having a child." It will be three years from the date of their marriage.

Hermione Gingold was bemoaning the fate of her scene with Peter Sellers at the end of The World of Henry Orient. "Because of the 'family' trade at the Music Hall in New York, my scene was completely cut from the picture." I'm not surprised. Hermione played a madame in a bawdy house. Her girls were the lovely contestants in the Miss Universe beauty-contest. I can just see what the various countries would say to have their gorgeous representatives playing prostitutes!

Now, Fathers Anonymous

ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON — One of the results of sending American troops all over the world is the rise in the birthrate of little-Americans fathered by the American GI's. No one wishes to take any responsibility for these children, just as very few people will even admit they exist.

Pearl Buck, one of the greatest living American authors, has been concerned about the problem for some time, and has started a foundation to take care of some of these children, particularly in Korea, where GI's have contributed so generously to the population explosion.

"I have discovered my cause is not a popular one," Miss Buck told us. "The American mother won't believe her son would have an affair. The veteran's organization are shocked that I would even raise the question, and the American military are completely defensive about it."

"How could our boys do such a thing," the military say, "when they were playing volleyball all the time?" "I have tried to point out that the only other possible way for the children to arrive would be by stock, but unfortunately there are no stocks in the Far East."

Miss Buck said she has a solution to the problem that wouldn't embarrass anyone. She has started "Fathers Anonymous," which will make it possible for a father of a half-American to contribute some money without anyone knowing about it.

"I am sure," she said, "that there are quite a few men who are conscience-stricken and would like to do something about it, if it wouldn't get them in trouble. Fathers Anonymous is the perfect answer."

"If any GI or ex-GI can remember a wonderful occasion during his service years that could have resulted in a baby's being born nine months later, then he is eligible to join Fathers Anonymous."

"All I am asking is that in grateful memory of that evening he send a cash contribution to my foundation. The beauty of my organization is that there will be no questions asked, no names required, and no follow-up on the contribution. The money sent can be considered conscience money. I am certain there are many veterans who would like to ease the burden of their guilt if they could. As Sophie Tucker said recently, 'Okay, everyone had a wonderful time. Now let's clean up the mess.'"

"Miss Buck," we said, "how would someone be sure he should join Fathers Anonymous?"

"I can think of one test," she replied. "If the person's hands are shaking while he reads your article, you can be sure he has a reason to be a member of the club."

Trail Hills Get Beauty Treatment

In an effort to beautify sparsely covered, sandy hills around Trail, 15 tons of fertilizer has been dropped on 157-acre, two-mile-long strip of hillside by Skyway Services aircraft from Langley. If aerial enrichment experiment is successful, Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada will plant 1,000 yellow pine seedlings as part of long range improvement plan which could include the planting of 60,000 seedlings a year, bedding plants, grass and flowers in an area not noted for its beauty.

Wild Lads Sank the Big Pie Dish

BARNESLEY, England (Reuters) — Faces at nearby Denby Dale, where townsfolk make the world's biggest pies, were black as the water in the local canal today—for someone had "sunk" their 1½-ton pie dish.

Nearly 20 feet long, the dish was to have been used for the biggest pie yet, containing "one ton of potatoes and five prime bullocks," for a ceremony dating back to 1788. It was to be cooked in honor of the four recent royal births.

The giant steel dish had been painted white, decorated, and fitted out with an outboard motor for its canal trip to Huddersfield.

G. H. Naylor, spokesman for the board in charge of the pie project, said: "It was sunk by wild lads. The water isn't very deep, but the canal at this point is as black as a sewer."

Parents Fined Over Truancy

WINNIPEG (CP)—A mother and father were fined Thursday in the case of the St. Vital truant, a case with its roots in a long-burning issue over public aid to Manitoba's parochial schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger St. Onge were fined $45 each and costs for not sending three of their children to school.

They had pleaded not guilty to the charge, laid by school authorities, and were convicted April 28.

The St. Onge and five other Roman Catholic families kept their children home from classes at a parochial school in St. Vital, a Greater Winnipeg city, for three months last winter. This action followed imposition of a $8 monthly fee on parochial school students riding a public school bus to school. Public school children ride free.

FLAGRANT DISREGARD In passing sentence, Magistrate G. L. Cusley said the couple had shown "flagrant disregard of the law."

He said no individual or community has the right to pick and choose which laws it will obey. The School Attendance Act "must be obeyed like the other laws."

Phantom II Jet Touted As Canadian Flagship

OTTAWA (UPI)—A new high-speed, long range American-developed jet aircraft is being touted as the flagship of Canada's new integrated defence force, it was learned Thursday.

McDonnell Aircraft's F-4 Phantom II, now in service with the United States navy, marines and air force, is considered the logical successor to both the Canadian-made CF-101 Voodoo and the CF-104 Starfighter now serving with the Canadian air division in Europe.

The selection of a new versatile general-purpose aircraft will be the first major equipment order by Defence Minister Hellyer and his unified command under defence chief-designate, Air Chief Marshal Frank Miller.

High Arrow Dam Not Needed Now Say 24 Engineers

OTTAWA (CP)—A strong blast against the proposed High Arrow Dam in the Columbia River development was delivered Thursday before the Commons external affairs committee by a professional engineer bucking his own company's policy.

The $130,000,000 structure, which would turn the Arrow lakes into a 16-mile-long reservoir and displace 1,800 people, is an expediency that no longer is necessary, testified Ritchie Deane of Roseland, B.C., chief electrical engineer of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company.

WITHOUT PAY Mr. Deane, who said he is on leave of absence without pay to state his case, submitted the signatures of 24 area engineers—some of them Cominco employees—who endorsed his brief.

Cominco itself, largest industry on the Columbia in Canada, told the committee earlier that it favors the development plan envisaged in the 1961 treaty with the United States, and the protocol of Jan. 22.

Mr. Deane also suggested that the federal government in certain areas affecting people and resources should step in to exercise vetoes on projects.

High Arrow had been pushed by the old B.C. Hydro and Power Authority—because it would yield a large block of power from the U.S. which would make the provincially-owned utility a major operation. But conditions had changed in that need for power with the decision to develop the Peace River in the north, he argued.

U.S. Sailor Found Shot

Commons Heats Up Over 'Pork-Barrel'

OTTAWA (CP)—Charges that the government was involved in half a six-month contract with RCAF Station Namao and "pork-barrel patronage" raised the heat of the Commons chamber Thursday with a crackling exchange between Erik Nielsen (PC-Yukon) and two cabinet ministers.

Mr. Nielsen was completing a speech begun April 24 when he charged that a "representative" of Agriculture Minister Hays tried to persuade Jacob Trach, manager of Purity Dairy Com-

Wayward Allies Rapped by U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Under-town University Centre for Strategic Studies, Ball said effective said Thursday that the effective solution of the problems facing the NATO alliance "will not be achieved by tinkering with the NATO structure" but by greater its members to agree on such critical issues as Cuban trade, In a speech at the George-

Thursday that so far the firm has received no further order, but he said company representatives are in Havana.

We'll Trade With Cuba —Pearson

OTTAWA (UPI)—Prime Minister Pearson said yesterday that Canada intends to continue trading with Cuba despite the U.S. economic blockade of the island.

Opposition leader John Diefenbaker asked Mr. Pearson in the Commons if President Johnson had asked Canada to assist in the blockade.

Mr. Pearson said he had not and that "trade with Communist countries in non-strategic materials will not be interfered with."

The prime minister added: "Our policy on this matter is well known to the United States government. As recently as last week we had occasion to discuss it with them again."

The joint Canada-U.S. ministerial committee on trade and economic policies met in Ottawa last week and Mr. Pearson said the subject of trade with Cuba was touched upon but no representations were made.

Lying Demands

Of B.C.:

Admit You Can't Cope

OTTAWA (CP) — Northern Affairs Minister Laing said Thursday night that Premier Bennett still has not told the federal government whether it is beyond the province's capacity to compensate tidal wave victims on Vancouver Island.

He said in an interview that no decision will be made on Mr. Bennett's request for $750,000 in federal aid towards compensating victims of the floods which struck the Alberni area March 28, until the matter had been put to cabinet. (See also Page 21.)

He said he will be discussing the request with his colleagues during the next few days but that the next cabinet meeting is not scheduled until Tuesday. The minister said the criteria had to be fixed, otherwise the federal government would find itself being called in to assist whenever losses were not covered by insurance.

Cancer Drug Your Risk Doctor Told

OTTAWA (UPI) — The federal health department has told the Montreal father of a boy dying of cancer that if his physician uses the controversial drug Anablast on the boy the doctor does so at his own risk.

However the department made it clear to the developer of the drug, Paris biologist Gaston Naessens, that this was an isolated case and he could not promote or distribute the drug without complying with federal regulations.

SON DYING

Rene Guynemer, whose three-year-old son, Rene, Jr., is dying of leukemia, and Naessens, appeared before Deputy National Health and Welfare Minister Dr. G. D. W. Cameron Wednesday.

Cameron, flanked by legal experts and advisers, told the father that the federal government would not stand in the way of the treatment of the boy with the drug, which Naessens has claimed will cure leukemia.

The father was told that if he could find a doctor willing to take the risk of using the drug the federal government could neither give nor deny permission.

tions being made in New York and frequent messages back-and-forth to Ottawa to learn what troops Canada would contribute to the force.

"I'll never forget the night, around midnight, when Ottawa told me they were prepared to send the Queen's Own Rifles. I just wondered how that name would appeal to the Egyptians who had been busy trying to get the Queen's forces out of Egypt.

"I asked if there wasn't some other regiment that could go, and I was told the Black Watch was in a similar state of readiness. I must say I couldn't see any real improvement in the name.

"So I asked whether we didn't have something like the 1st East Kootenay Anti-Imperialist Regiment. I was trying to be funny. But Ottawa didn't think so. They told me if I was trying to change the name of some of Canada's most historic old regiments, I could call the whole thing off."

Ultimately, because Canada was better prepared than other countries to send specialized troops, Canada did not send a battalion drawn from one regiment, but recruited a lance, transport, maintenance and supply personnel from the Canadian Army, and an observer and transport squadron from the RCAF.

Third Holdup Suspect

Second Man Due in City

KRAFT IN CUSTODY

By BOB PETHICK

A third man sought in connection with the $7,300 armed robbery of the Bank of Montreal in Saanich April 24 was picked up in Atlantic City, New Jersey, last night.

Clarence William Kraft, a salesman from Victoria, was arrested without incident on a city street by members of the Atlantic City police force and the United States immigration department of Newark, N. J.

SECOND MAN

Even as the arrest was being made, a second man Ronald Joseph Dagenais — who was picked up by Detroit city police and the U.S. immigration Tuesday in co-operation with Windsor city police — was flying back to face charges of armed robbery in connection with the bank holdup.

Kraft is being held in Hudson County Jail. Police said last night he will be deported at a later date, but they were not sure when.

FOURTH MAN

Saanich police are still seeking a fourth man who drove the getaway car, which the holdup gang used after ditching a U-drive car used in their flight from the bank.

Kraft was the first man Saanich police issued a warrant for a week after the hold-up.

PROMPT ARRESTS

Det. Sgt. Joseph Armstrong said last night the prompt arrests were a wonderful example of co-operation by United States immigration officials in Seattle and Newark, the Newark city police, Detroit police and immigration officials, Windsor police and the RCMP.

"They deserve all the credit. They ran down every possible lead and have worked very hard," said Det. Sgt. Armstrong.

"Saanich is only a small place but all the departments gave us full co-operation," he said.

'Leukemia' Bandit Gets $3,401

VANCOUVER (CP)—A bandit escaped with $3,401 from a suburban restaurant early Thursday after telling the manager he has leukemia.

Manager Barry Hodgson, 56, said the bandit walked into his office, pointed a sawed-off rifle at him and ordered him to fill a duffle bag with money from the safe.

"Are you kidding?" asked Hodgson.

"I have leukemia and I don't care," the gunman replied, kicking Hodgson in the back.

"I gave him everything in the safe," said Hodgson.

International Protest

CP from AP-Reuters

MOSCOW—The United States and Britain have protested jointly to the Soviet foreign and defence ministries against the apparent "drugging" of four military attaches in the Black Sea port of Odessa last March.

The U.S. embassy here has protested that three U.S. military attaches apparently were drugged while in Odessa, the U.S. state department disclosed in Washington Thursday.

NAVAL ATTACHE

In London, the foreign office said a British assistant naval attaché was with the Americans on the trip and also was drugged. The Briton was identified as Lt.-Cmdr. H. Harvey-Samuel.

The drugging of the U.S. marine, naval and air attaches—apparently during a hotel dinner in the course of a March 24-26 visit to the Black Sea port—was described as mild. And so was the U.S. reaction.

NO COMPLAINT

State department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the U.S. embassy did not lodge its complaint with the Soviet foreign office until May 2, more than a month after the attaches returned to Moscow.

State department officials said time was needed to complete medical tests which showed the three had received enough barbiturates to cause drowsiness. However, the U.S. investigation was not absolutely conclusive and the men were not harmed, it was stated.

U.S. ACCOUNT

U.S. officials gave this account: Marine Lt.-Col. J. M. Landrigan, air force Lt.-Col. W. L. van Meter and naval Lt.-Cmdr. Sumner Shapiro, assistant attaches, had dinner at their hotel in Odessa and spent the night in their hotel rooms. They first noticed a mild impact from what was believed to have been drugs when they awoke the next morning.

NO THEFT

U.S. officials do not know of any theft of documents or attempts to compromise the attaches while they were asleep in their hotel rooms.

The three returned to the U.S. Embassy, where the tests were made. They still are in Moscow.

The foreign office announcement in London said Harvey-Samuel is back in Moscow and in good health.

For Want of a Regiment . . .

Shortlived Glory of the 1st EKAIR

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson told a university lecture audience Thursday night of one of his embarrassing moments during preparation of the United Nations emergency force for the Middle East in 1956.

He recalled that at that time he was in New York leading the Canadian delegation to the United Nations as Canada's external affairs minister. There were hasty prepara-

Tax Rate Boosted 2.06 Mills

PORT ALBERNI — Council raised the mill rate by 2.06 mills — to 48.77 — and adopted a budget to cover expenditures estimated at $2,733,325.

Ald. Jack Perry, chairman of the finance committee, said the mill rate increase was brought about because of an increase in school costs.

23 PER CENT INCREASE

Port Alberni's share of school district 70's costs this year is $1,196,276, a 23 per cent increase over 1963 and a 48 per cent increase over 1962, he said.

"It is rather alarming to think that our school costs have risen by $364,922 in two years," said Ald. Perry.

SCHOOLS 21.48

The school rate was set at 21.48 mills and the general rate at 22.08 mills.

Second highest item on the list of estimated expenditures is $312,500 for social welfare costs, while debt charges amounting to $251,032 represent 5.204 mills and is half-a-mill lower than last year.

Museum Site Vote Set In Cowichan

NORTH COWICHAN — Ratepayers here will vote in the near future on a referendum for land purchase, in connection with a proposed Cowichan forest museum near Duncan.

Council decided Wednesday to see if ratepayers are in favor of the municipality paying a share towards cost of land purchase for the museum.

The 19-acre museum site at Drinkwater Road and the Somers lake shore would cost $37,000. North Cowichan council some weeks ago committed itself to pay $8,000 towards the cost, along with $5,000 worth of improvement work at the site.

St. Germain, Griffiths Burials Set

NANAIMO — Funeral services will be held in St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church at 10 a.m. Saturday for Mrs. Pearl St. Germain, 38, 765 Center Street, who died in hospital Wednesday.

Funeral services will be held in Westwood funeral home at 1:30 p.m. Monday for Albert Clifford Griffiths, 65, 315 Holy Avenue, who died in hospital Thursday. Mr. Griffiths was a member of Ashlar Lodge No. 3, AF & AM.

12,600 Vehicles Use Rogers Pass

EDMONTON (CP) — Figures released Wednesday showed 12,600 vehicles used the Rogers Pass route through Glacier National Park in April, 1964, a decrease of 6,028 from a similar period last year. Records showed 39.5 inches of snow in Glacier Pass during April, boosting the winter total to 536 inches.

NANAIMO — Farmers on Vancouver Island should increase the size of their sheep flocks, says district agriculturalist J. V. Zacharias.

"We would like to encourage more sheep on the island," said Mr. Zacharias. "They do well here and the market is good. We don't produce enough lamb in Canada or in this province, we still have to import large amounts."

AN ADDED LINE

There are about 18,000 sheep on Vancouver Island but they are raised by farmers mainly as a sideline. They eat grass and forage crops and are quite easy to keep but, said Mr. Zacharias, "we don't have large areas of range lands. That's the reason for the existence of a large number of small farm flocks."

MOSTLY FOR MEAT

Sheep on the island are raised to be sold exclusively for meat, with wool as a by-product.

"One problem of the sheep breeder is that most of us are not in the habit of eating lamb. Changing this situation is just a matter of promotion and publicity," he said.

FOR NANAIMO

Mr. Zacharias said that sheep breeders field day, sponsored by the department of agriculture and the B.C. Purebred Sheep Breeders Association—formerly held at Duncan—will be held in Nanaimo from now on because of its more central location.

Robert Shopland, field man for the Alberta Sheep Breeders Association; R. L. Wilkinson, assistant livestock commissioner, and John Kneale of the federal department of agriculture yesterday showed more than 60 island sheep breeders new ways to improve management techniques and informed them of new developments in the industry.

A sheep shearing school, with eight enrolled in the course, took place in Duncan Wednesday.

Girl, Dog Uninjured

NANAIMO — Ann Tully, 30, of 3000 Estevan, who swerved her car to avoid hitting a dog, crashed through a fence at Nanaimo Auto Parts on Terminal Avenue, late Wednesday night. She was uninjured in the accident, which caused an estimated $400 damage. The dog also escaped injury.

First Auxiliary Policemen Sworn Into Nanaimo Force

NANAIMO — Thirteen volunteers who completed a 3½-month training program at the RCMP detachment here were sworn in last night as RCMP auxiliary policemen.

Insp. George McD. MacKay, officer commanding Victoria Nanaimo detachment and it is expected that another training program will be started in the fall.

The men, 11 from Nanaimo and two from Ladysmith, have received instructions from RCMP officers here on criminal law, crowd control, first aid, handling of small arms, traffic control, general police work, foot drill, RCMP discipline and emergency planning.

FOR EXTRA HELP — The program of training auxiliary police began in the province in 1962 as a means to assist RCMP officers in case of disaster or any other situation where extra help is required.

Auxiliary policemen must abide by RCMP disciplinary regulations while on duty though they hold no rank in the national police force.

The men are volunteers and will not be paid. They will be uniformed.

ONE-TO-ONE RATIO — The number of auxiliary policemen attached to an RCMP detachment is based on a one-to-one ratio; one RCMP officer to one auxiliary policeman.

When the 13 auxiliary policemen assume their duties they will continue in service training similar to that undertaken by the regular police officers.

Later he came to Lake Cowichan, and for the past seven years lived at Duncan. Burial will be in the Cedar Valley memorial gardens.

They also discussed the need for perpetuating the motel and resort operators' profession as a worthy calling requiring a higher and higher degree of excellence.

Auditory policemen must abide by RCMP disciplinary regulations while on duty though they hold no rank in the national police force.

Several persons proposed during the B.C. Motels and Resorts Association spring conference here Tuesday and Wednesday that a "closed shop" be established.

They wanted a condition of membership in ACRA to be that members refer their overflow guests to member motels and resorts only.

Delegates attending the joint conference and inter-area meeting here also discussed the effect which speculative overbuilding of accommodation facilities is having on some areas.

Cowichan Building Up

NORTH COWICHAN — Building permit figures for the month of April were higher than last year's, although the four-month total is about half of last year's figure.

The municipality issued permits worth $127,930 in April, compared with $38,713 in April 1963. The four-month total now stands at $646,856, compared with $1,224,409 for a similar period last year.

DUNCAN — The Duncan Rotarians' annual auction and rummage sale will be held at the Duncan Armory today and tomorrow.

The group's rummage sale will be held at 10 a.m. today. The home bake and plant sale will start at 10 a.m. Saturday, and the auction at 1 p.m. Saturday.

PARKSVILLE — R. & E. Crushing and Contracting Company Limited of Nanaimo and Parksville has been awarded a contract for a paving project in Parksville village. The firm's bid for the job was $7.90 per ton.

DUNCAN — Wallace H. Sklen pleaded guilty to burning brush during the fire season at his Glenora property and was fined $25 in police court yesterday.

Glen A. Mackie was fined $70 for careless driving, and Rose Anne Isobelle James was fined $50 for driving while under suspension.

NANAIMO — Royal Canadian Sea Cadets will hold their annual inspection at the army camp drill shed, at 6:45 p.m. today.

Inspecting officer I. A. McFee will be assisted by Lt. Cmdr. J. Hobbs, area officer, Pacific Command Sea Cadets. The public is invited to attend.

LAKE COWICHAN — A juvenile from Youbou involved in a traffic fatality there was remanded without plea yesterday until May 21, on a charge of driving without due care and attention.

The youth was the driver of a car which struck and killed three-year-old Denise Bremner, April 11.

Jessie Rafter Funeral Today

CHEMUNAINUS — Funeral services will be held at the Chemainus Gospel hall at 2 p.m. today for Jessie Rafter, who died here Tuesday at the age of 70.

She was born at Thorton, Fifeshire, Eng., and came to Ladysmith in 1910. She lived in Chemainus for the past 32 years.

Burial will be in Chemainus cemetery.

Minus His Shoes

Boy Gunman
Hiding Here

Somewhere in Greater Victoria, a 15-year-old boy is hiding from police. He has no shoes—but he does have a gun and a record for shooting a man.

The boy was one of two fugitives from Brannen Lake Boys' School, caught yesterday morning in the act of stealing clothing from British Importers Ltd., 631 Yates.

He fled police about 2:30 a.m. after a patrolling constable apprehended his 14-year-old companion while the pair was dressing with clothing from the store stock. His shoes were left in the store.

STOLEN CLOTHING

The 14-year-old was wearing clothing stolen from the stock when arrested, police say. Also in his possession was other clothing which also belonged to British Importers.

The boys escaped from Brannen Lake School April 24 and apparently broke into a Nanaimo sporting goods store stealing knives, an axe, a .22 rifle and ammunition.

The fugitive was sentenced to Brannen Lake after shooting, with intent to wound, a milkman in Prince George.

MONEY, WATCH

The captured boy also had in his possession money and a watch reported stolen from up-Island recently.

Officers say they believe the boys were heading for the mainland, but it was doubtful if the 15-year-old could have gone far without his shoes. They expect he would try to steal other footwear.

B.C. Asks Ottawa for Half
Alberni Tidal Wave Loss
Valued at $1,500,000

By TERRY HAMMOND
Colonist Legislative Reporter

Depreciated Alberni property loss caused by Good Friday's tidal waves has been assessed at $1,500,000 and Premier Bennett has asked the federal government to put up half.

The figure embraces all uninsured loss except that of large industries and is about half the sum originally

Laing
Awaits
Details

OTTAWA (CP)—Resource Minister Laing said Thursday the federal government cannot decide whether to undertake a joint disaster relief program with British Columbia until it has the details of the damage and the terms of B.C.'s application for aid. This was expected today.

Jaycee Plea

Albernis
Need
More AidAlbernis
Need
More Aid

A plea for further support from Victorians in the Alberni Flood Disaster Fund was made yesterday by Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce president Bryan Holliday.

After meetings with Port Alberni Mayor Les Hamner and Alberni Mayor Fred Bishop, Mr. Holliday said:

"We wish to express our appreciation to the citizens of Greater Victoria for their very generous contributions and to all other Island communities who have also donated.

CONTINUE SUPPORT

"However, we urge these citizens to continue their support both financially and morally as it is urgently needed. To those citizens who have not yet contributed we ask that they seriously consider a small donation to assist our neighbors in the Alberni Valley."

Mr. Holliday said there were at least 33 businesses in the Alberni in urgent need of financial assistance. There were also some cases where children were still separated from their families and people paying mortgages on destroyed property in addition to paying rent for living accommodation elsewhere.

Results of an independent damage appraisal were placed before the cabinet yesterday. The premier wired Prime Minister Pearson for $750,000 a short time later.

END FEUD?

Federal approval of the request would likely end the latest political feud between Premier Bennett and federal Resources Minister Arthur Laing.

Mr. Laing, a former B.C. Liberal leader who has crossed political swords with the premier before, became a Bennett target earlier this week when he said Ottawa couldn't help the Albernis unless B.C. declared that compensation was beyond its financial capabilities.

PLAN FOR FUTURE

He also said an earlier telegram from the premier asking for agreement on a 50-50 split of compensation could be interpreted as an outline of a plan for future disasters.

Mr. Bennett said Mr. Laing was playing politics and being stupid.

REAL PROGRESS

Mayor Bishop told reporters "it would appear we made real progress today."

Said Mayor Hamner: "We are anxious awaiting a reply from Ottawa."

"They said they were well pleased with B.C.'s pledge to pay $750,000 of the loss and added, 'we just hope Ottawa will be as generous.'"

They said a meeting of the Alberni Disaster Relief Fund committee would be held as soon as possible after Ottawa has replied to the premier's latest wire.

SEVERE BLOW

Mayor Bishop said the difference between depreciated value and replacement cost will likely come as a severe blow to some victims of the waves.

He expressed the hope that victims would get 100 cents on the dollar for their depreciated holdings and said there has been no decision on what to do in cases where the difference between depreciated value and replacement cost will cause severe hardship.

Under discussion, he said, is whether victims should be allowed to resettle in the flooded areas. If they were moved in order to safeguard against future tidal wave losses, they would be entitled to additional compensation for their land.

PRIORITY FOR NEED

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black said earlier that compensation funds will be distributed as soon as possible and that priority will be established on the basis of need.

He hinted that compensation might exceed depreciated values in some cases, but declined to go into details.

Money for this assistance presumably would come from the $500,000 which the Alberni disaster fund expects in donations.

More Blood Needed

DUNCAN — Red Cross blood clinic chairman George F. N. Cobbold last night appealed for more people here to give blood.

Blood donations at yesterday's opening of a two-day clinic here were very disappointing, he said.

"Our quota for the first day was 300 pints and only 150 persons gave blood."

The clinic's two-day quota is 600 pints, and 450 must be received today if the quota is to be met.

Today's blood clinic will be held in the United Church hall, from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., and again from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.

She's Too Late
For the Beer

A Victoria housewife found a 25-cent bar token in her garden the other day; trouble is, she's just about 47 years too late to cash it in.

Mrs. Gerald Laycock, 1137 Princess, was doing some hoeing in her vegetable garden when she thought she saw a quarter among the dirt clods.

It turned out to be a round metal slug slightly larger than a quarter with the words "Good for 25c in Trade" on one side and "Empire Bar, Victoria," on the other. The token was a rusty dark brown but Mr. Laycock polished until it was a silver color. Further cleaning revealed a dull gilt finish.

The Empire Hotel and restaurant were at 546-8 Johnson, which was then between Government and Broad. They are listed at that address in the 1917 city directory and presumably served spirits until prohibition came in. It is thought the tokens were used as advertising or perhaps were sold like milk tickets or bus tokens.

At any rate there's little hope at this late date of using it to buy five nickel glasses of beer.

Giant Party
Planned
In Oak Bay

A giant, two-day beach party, highlighted by Oak Bay High School 20th anniversary reunion, is being planned by Oak Bay community celebrations committee.

The party, to be held at Willows Beach June 5 and 6, will have rides for children and a midway at Willows Park, where a tea party will be held.

There will be a display of water skiing by Victoria Aqua Ski Club, a display and regatta by the Inboard-Outboard Club, and the annual swim from Mary Tod Island to a finish line on the beach.

On the second day graduates of 1944 from Oak Bay High will meet to discuss and recall their school days, and enjoy the tea party.

New Court Committee

'No Duties at All'

By IAN STREET

The newly-created Greater Victoria family and juvenile court committee has been given "no duties at all," Ald. Lily Wilson said yesterday.

She told the city's health and welfare committee that the intermunicipal group wrote to the government asking what its duties were.

"The reply was almost an insult," said Ald. Wilson. "We're not there to do anything. At our Wednesday meeting the consensus was that we might as well retire for all the good we can do."

New legislation passed in 1963 covering family and juvenile court operation requires municipalities to appoint a committee to work with the court.

EASE BURDEN

It appears, however, that the government's intention was to create local organizations that would assume some of the duties of the family and children's service where none existed before.

This leaves the Greater Victoria committee with little or nothing to do, since we have a family and children's service and community welfare council.

GOOD IDEA

Nevertheless, said Mayor R. B. Wilson, "this new committee sounds like a good idea."

"We should try operating on the present limited basis for one year and then perhaps recommend some changes to the attorney-general's department."

This stand was supported by Ald. Wilson, who said the committee would continue "to do what we think is right and to find out what we want to know... until someone tells us to stop."

PROBE BUDGET

She added: "One thing we are going to look into is this matter of the budget."

City council last week approved the 1961 budget for operation of the family and juvenile court which amounted to $47,400. This is an increase of $11,642 over actual expenditure in 1963.

Under existing legislation the government has the right to appoint probation officers and the municipalities must meet the full cost.

CITY PAYMASTER

Victoria has been designated by order-in-council as the paymaster of the Greater Victoria court which for the first time this year includes Esquimalt, as well as Saanich and Oak Bay.

Ald. Wilson said the intermunicipal committee has approved plans for conversion of the former juvenile detention home on Coldharbour Road into a temporary home for the family court which is now located in a basement.

University Project

Two Girls Range Island
To Get Plant Specimens

By TED GASKELL

Two girls from the University of Victoria will spend their summer gathering specimens of Vancouver Island's plant life for the university's botany department.

There was a time when flower pressing was a hobby of delicate, Victorian-era misses, but that drawing-room pastime is a far cry from outdoors expedition to be undertaken by these two vigorous students, Joan Hett, 3084 Jacklin, and Wendy Armstrong, 1146 Richardson.

TRAVEL NORTH

They'll travel north early next week to Port Hardy in a rented truck, taking with them two tents, one a base camp and the other a tiny fly tent which can be packed into the bush for side trips.

They'll take a small carport boat along for use on lakes, cooking and sleeping equipment, a specimen press and a small camp heater to dry out specimens.

TWO-WEEK JAUNT

Field trips will last two weeks and will include west coast and Gulf Islands.

The girls are employed by the university to help build up a base collection for the botany department which already has 3,000 specimens.

With the rapid expansion of cities and industries, scientists want to learn as much as they can about wild land while there is still some left.

This is important for the future because knowledge of plants in forest lands discloses many things about the land, climate and geology.

This summer two scientists from the Central Experimental Farm in Ottawa, Dr. Larry Sherk and Jim Calder, are coming to the Island to study ferns, orchids and some types of violets.

Miss Hett and Miss Armstrong will aid them by noting areas where such plants are found. Miss Hett, a science student in her final year, is making her second expedition and after graduation will continue her studies in Wisconsin under a National Research Council grant.

Miss Armstrong, a third year science student, is making her first field trips.

Checking equipment before setting out on field trip collecting specimens of Vancouver Island's plant life are University of Victoria students Wendy Armstrong and Joan Hett. Tent provides base camp. Students demonstrate botanical press which they will use to store their finds.—(Bud Kinsman)

St. Ann's Fair

It was truly family day at St. Ann's Academy where a Carni-val and Fair, sponsored by the Sisters of St. Ann's and the Parents' Association, attracted young and old throughout the day.

The successful affair was opened by Sister Superior, who was presented with a bouquet of red roses by Beverly Griffin. Students from Grade 5, under direction of Sister Mary Ger-main, sang Come to the Fair, followed by Rose Marie Med-land presenting Sister Superior with the scissors to cut the cer-emonial ribbon.

Mrs. S. Haynee was general convener with Mrs. G. Patern-son as her co-convenor. Yellow candles and spring flowers, in school colors of blue and yellow, decorated the head-table at which were seated His Excellency Bishop de Roo, Sister Mary Monina, Superior of St. Ann's Academy; Mrs. Haynee, Mrs. Paterson, Mr. J. Rey, president of Parents' As-sociation, and Mrs. Rey.

Mrs. F. Griffin was tea con-venor and the students' fathers poured tea.

Stall conveners were Mrs. R. E. Coleman, aprons; Mrs. B. J. Kitson, hat bar; Mrs. B. Barry, delicatessen; Mrs. J. Allison and Mrs. J. White, home cooking; Mrs. F. Christian, lucky seven; Mrs. R. Deslett, novelties; Mrs. S. Janis, candy; Mrs. L. Holner, fancy work; Sister Mary Thomas Moore, plants; Sisters of St. Ann's, religious articles; Mrs. W. Brown, doll clothes; Mrs. B. Webb, groceries, and Mr. J. Griffin, games.

A penny carnival kept the children busy during the after-noon and an auction, handled by Mr. A. Ritz, rounded out the evening.

WEEKEND LUNCH IDEA:

Meat loaf made with Campbell's Soup

When the entire family's home, it's fun to serve something extra special for lunch. Make it an occasion with:

Souper Saucy Meat Loaf

1 can (10 ounces) Campbell's Tomato Soup
1/4 cup water
1 cup small bread cubes
1/2 cup minced onion
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley

1 egg, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 pounds ground beef
Blend soup and water. Combine 1/2 cup soup mixture with bread, onion, parsley, egg, salt, and pepper; mix thoroughly with meat. Shape firmly into loaf; place in shallow baking pan (12 x 8 x 2"). Bake in a 350° oven 1 hour 15 minutes. Blend remaining soup with 2 tablespoons of dripping. Heat; stir now and then. Serve over loaf. 4 to 6 servings.

WATCH TUESDAY FOR ANOTHER LUNCH IDEA

Heirloom Pin Worn by Bride

A gold pin that has been in the groom's family for over 100 years was "something old" worn by Jo-Anne Dunn when she exchanged marriage vows with William John Bates.

She was given in marriage by her father. Her white peau de soie gown featured a panelled skirt that extended into a train. Sleeves ended in lily points. The chapel-length veil misted from a coronet of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of Eucharis lilies and stephanotis.

Rev. R. J. Love officiated at the double-ring ceremony in Comb Lake United Church, Coquitlam, that united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dunn of Port Coquitlam, and the son of Capt. and Mrs. A. A. Bates of Victoria.

Turquoise peau de soie gowns were choice of maid of honor, Miss Betty Hough, and brides-maid, Miss Honey Howes. Another bridesmaid, Miss Marilyn Bates, sister of the groom, was gowned in pink peau de soie. All carried shower bouquets of white daisies and ivy.

Ellis Mead was best man and guests were ushered to their pews by Ray Whitehead and John Cooper. Ricky and Jim Scott acted as pages.

Peter Hewitt proposed the toast at a reception in the Golden Chalice. The lace-covered head table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake. Congratulatory telegrams were received from Aden, Egypt and from Victoria. Miss Carolyn Jensen was in charge of the register. For travelling on a honey-moon trip to Seattle, the bride donned a pale blue poodle cloth dress with white accessories. The couple is now making their home at 1821 Barclay Street, Vancouver.

More Buses for Castro Hinted by British Firm

Wayward Allies Rapped by U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Under Secretary of State George Ball said Thursday that the effectiveness of the NATO alliance is jeopardized by "international wishful thinking" and failure of its members to agree on such critical issues as Cuban trade. In a speech at the Georgetown University Centre for Strategic Studies, Ball said effective solution of the problems facing NATO "will not be achieved merely by tinkering with the NATO structure" but by greater co-operation among members and wider acceptance of responsibility.

LONDON (UPI)—A leading British motor firm may be negotiating a new multi-million-dollar deal for delivery of buses to Castro's Cuba, a company spokesman indicated Thursday.

The hint came as government sources said Britain is determined to continue its trade-with-Cuba policy despite renewed American pressure against it.

A spokesman for the Leyland Motor Corp. indicated a new deal may be in the works following a Havana broadcast reporting Cuba shortly would buy another 500 buses in Britain.

The Leyland company signed a $10,000,000 contract with Cuba in January to provide 450 buses. In addition, Cuba acquired an option for another 1,000 buses.

A company spokesman said

Thursday that so far the firm has received no further order, but he said company representatives are in Havana.

We'll Trade With Cuba —Pearson

OTTAWA (UPI)—Prime Minister Pearson said yesterday that Canada intends to continue trading with Cuba—despite the U.S. economic blockade of the island.

Opposition leader John Diefenbaker asked Mr. Pearson in the Commons if President Johnson had asked Canada to assist in the blockade.

Mr. Pearson said he had not and that "trade with Communist countries in non-strategic materials will not be interfered with."

The prime minister added: "Our policy on this matter is well known to the United States government. As recently as last week we had occasion to discuss it with them again."

The joint Canada-U.S. ministerial committee on trade and economic policies met in Ottawa last week and Mr. Pearson said the subject of trade with Cuba was touched upon but no representations were made.

Laing Demands

Of B.C.:

Admit You Can't Cope

OTTAWA (CP)—Northern Affairs Minister Laing said Thursday night that Premier Bennett still has not told the federal government whether it is beyond the province's capacity to compensate tidal wave victims on Vancouver Island.

He said in an interview that no decision will be made on Mr. Bennett's request for $750,000 in federal aid towards compensating victims of the floods which struck the Alberni area March 28, until the matter had been put in cabinet. (See also Page 21.)

He said he will be discussing the request with his colleagues during the next few days but that the next cabinet meeting is not scheduled until Tuesday. The minister said the criteria had to be fixed, otherwise the federal government would find itself being called in to assist whenever losses were not covered by insurance.

Cancer Drug Your Risk Doctor Told

OTTAWA (UPI)—The federal health department has told the Montreal father of a boy dying of cancer that if his physician uses the controversial drug Anabin, he is taking a risk.

However, the department made it clear to the developer of the drug, Paris biologist Gaston Naessens, that this was an isolated case and he could not promote or distribute the drug without complying with federal regulations.

SON DYING

Rene Guyonnet, whose three-year-old son, Rene, Jr., is dying of leukemia, and Naessens, appeared before Deputy National Health and Welfare Minister Dr. G. D. W. Cameron Wednesday. Cameron, flanked by legal experts and advisers, told the father that the federal government would not stand in the way of the treatment of the boy with the drug, which Naessens has claimed will cure leukemia.

The father was told that if he could find a doctor willing to take the risk of using the drug, the federal government could neither give nor deny permission.

'Leukemia' Bandit Gets $3,401

VANCOUVER (CP)—A bandit escaped with $3,401 from a suburban restaurant early Thursday after telling the manager he has leukemia.

Manager Barry Hodgson, 36, said the bandit walked into his office, pointed a sawed-off rifle at him and ordered him to fill a duffel bag with money from the safe.

"Are you kidding?" asked Hodgson.

"I have leukemia and I don't care," the gunman replied, kicking Hodgson in the back.

"I gave him everything in the safe," said Hodgson.

Pole Skiers Halfway

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Geographic Society Thursday reported a Norwegian ski unit is about halfway to the North Pole in a journey from Canada over the top of the world to Europe.

A society spokesman said the six-man team was last reported near Arlis-II, a U.S. weather station on a floating ice island in the Arctic.

By BOB PETHICK

A third man sought in connection with the $7,300 armed robbery of the Bank of Montreal in Saanich April 24 was picked up in Atlantic City, New Jersey, last night.

Clarence William Kraft, a salesman from Victoria, was arrested without incident on a city street by members of the Atlantic City police force and the United States immigration department of Newark, N. J.

SECOND MAN

Even as the arrest was being made, a second man, Ronald Joseph Dagenais—who was picked up by Detroit city police and the U.S. immigration Tuesday in co-operation with Windsor city police—was booked at Saanich police station after a cross-country flight.

Dagenais, handcuffed to Det. George Walton who escorted him back from Windsor, Ont., was met at Patricia Bay Airport by Det. Sgt. Robin Stewart and Det. Charles Truett.

SUSPECT CALM

He was calm when he arrived at the Saanich police station at 11:55 a.m., but he shielded his face with his arm as a photographer's flash bulb fired. Dagenais was hustled on past the newsmen and into the police station. He sighed, but said nothing.

Kraft is being held in Hudson County Jail. Police said last night he will be deported at a later date, but they were not sure when.

FOURTH MAN

Saanich police are still seeking a fourth man who drove the getaway car, which the holdup gang used after ditching a U-drive car used in their flight from the bank.

Kraft was the first man Saanich police issued a warrant for a week after the hold-up.

Police said last night Kraft was first learned to be in New York City and later went to

International Protest

CP from AP-Reuters

MOSCOW—The United States and Britain have protested jointly to the Soviet foreign and defence ministries against the apparent "drugging" of four military attaches in the Black Sea port of Odessa last March.

The U.S. embassy here has protested that three U.S. military attaches apparently were drugged while in Odessa, the U.S. state department disclosed in Washington Thursday.

NAVAL ATTACHE

In London, the foreign office said a British assistant naval attaché was with the Americans on the trip and also was drugged. The Briton was identified as Lt.-Cmdr. H. Harvey-Samuel.

The drugging of the U.S. marine, naval and air attaches—apparently during a hotel dinner in the course of a March 24-26 visit to the Black Sea port—was described as mild. And so was the U.S. reaction.

NO COMPLAINT

State department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the U.S. embassy did not lodge its complaint with the Soviet foreign office until May 2, more than a month after the attaches returned to Moscow.

State department officials said time was needed to complete medical tests which showed the three had received enough barbiturates to cause drowsiness. However, the U.S. investigation was not absolutely conclusive and the men were not harmed, it was stated.

U.S. ACCOUNT

U.S. officials gave this account:

Marine Lt.-Col. J. M. Landrigan, air force Lt.-Col. W. L. van Meter, and naval Lt.-Cmdr. Sumner Shapiro, assistant attachés, had dinner at their hotel in Odessa and spent the night in their hotel rooms. They first noticed a mild impact from what was believed to have been drugs when they awoke the next morning.

U.S. officials do not know of any theft of documents or attempts to compromise the attaches while they were asleep in their hotel rooms.

The three returned to the U.S. Embassy, where the tests were made. They still are in Moscow.

The foreign office announcement in London said Harvey-Samuel is back in Moscow and in good health.

For Want of a Regiment ...

Shortlived Glory of the 1st EKAIR

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson told a university lecture audience Thursday night of one of his embarrassing moments during preparation of the United Nations emergency force for the Middle East in 1956.

He recalled that at that time he was in New York leading the Canadian delegation to the United Nations as Canada's external affairs minister.

There were hasty preparations being made in New York and frequent messages back-and-forth to Ottawa to learn what troops Canada would contribute to the force.

"I'll never forget the night, around midnight, when Ottawa told me they were prepared to send the Queen's Own Rifles. I just wondered how that name would appeal to the Egyptians who had been busy trying to get the Queen's forces out of Egypt.

"I asked if there wasn't some other regiment that could go, and I was told the Black Watch was in a similar state of readiness. I must say I couldn't see any real improvement in the name.

"So I asked whether we didn't have something like the 1st East Kootenay Anti-Imperialist Regiment. I was trying to be funny. But Ottawa didn't think so. They told me if I was trying to change the name of some of Canada's most historic old regiments, I could call the whole thing off."

Ultimately, because Canada was better prepared than other countries to send specialized troops, Canada did not send a battalion drawn from one regiment, but reconnaissance, transport, maintenance and supply personnel from the Canadian Army, and an observer and transport squadron from the RCAF.
